

Lawrence Named In Senate Race

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Some Democratic leaders are quietly working to slate former Gov. David Lawrence as the Democratic candidate for U.S. Senate, the Philadelphia Inquirer stated Thursday night.

The inquiry story, written by Joseph H. Miller, said the campaign in behalf of Lawrence was initiated as Democratic leaders prepared to meet in Washington next Tuesday to discuss the 1964 elections.

Miller said Lawrence, who is 71, has been discussed as a compromise choice if leaders can't agree on a candidate.

Others mentioned as possible senatorial candidates in the report were Genevieve Blatt, state secretary of internal affairs, Judge Clinton Budd Palmer of Northampton County and John S. Rice, U. S. ambassador to the Netherlands.

Ruby Trial May Be On TV

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—The nation may be permitted to watch the trial of Jack Ruby, indicted on charges of murdering Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused of assassinating John F. Kennedy.

Tom Howard, lawyer for the defense, said Thursday, "In this case, I think there are strong arguments for live telecasts from the courtroom and I can see no reason why we would object."

Texas judicial rules do not bar cameramen from courtrooms, leaving the question to individual jurists. Judge Joe Brown said he has not decided.

Roman Marriage Law Challenged

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Roman Catholic Church laws against the validity of mixed marriages performed by non-Catholic clergymen were challenged Thursday by two prelates at the Vatican Ecumenical Council.

Both Joseph Cardinal Frings of Cologne, Germany, and a Middle Eastern monk told the 2,200 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica that the law refusing to recognize marriage of a Catholic to a non-Catholic outside of a Catholic church should be scrapped in the interest of Christian unity.

The German prelate said it would be better still if "we declare the validity of mixed marriages contracted in the presence of a non-Catholic minister, and we should remove the ecclesiastical penalties for such marriages."

Under existing Catholic canon law, the non-Catholic partner is asked to promise to respect his or her spouse's Catholic faith and to bring up their children as Catholics.

Hydrogen Fuel Centaur Works

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The supercharged Atlas-Centaur rocket scored its first test flight success Wednesday, hurling its five-ton second stage into orbit in a performance strengthening plans for manned and unmanned exploration of the moon and planets.

The success ended months of costly, frustrating troubles for the rocket, whose Centaur second stage has the first rocket engine in the world propelled by high energy liquid hydrogen fuel.

The launching was the second from Cape Canaveral in 17 hours with an important hearing on the man-to-the-moon program.

Soviets Announce Rocket Tests

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced Thursday it will launch a new series of rockets into the central Pacific starting Dec. 2.

The testing will involve new, improved versions of spacecraft booster rockets, the announcement said, and will continue until Jan. 25. Ships and aircraft were warned to stay out of the impact areas during the testing.

Rabbi Silver, 70, Jewish Leader

CLEVELAND (AP)—Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver, a leader in world Jewry for almost half a century, died Thursday, apparently of a heart attack. He was 70.

He had waged an unflinching battle for the establishment of the state of Israel in the 1940s and won an international reputation for his lifelong leadership in the world Zionist movement.

He was a dynamic speaker, a scholar, author and spiritual leader of The Temple, one of the nation's largest liberal Jewish congregations.

Walter Lippmann

Walter Lippmann Joins The Record

STROUDSBURG — Walter Lippmann is the newspaper columnist who holds the title of dean of national and international reporters.

Starting today, his thought-provoking articles will be published twice-weekly in The Daily Record.

First of his columns appears on this page.

"The distinguished author, two-time winner of the Pulitzer Prize for newspaper writing, is one of the most articulate reporters commenting on the world scene today. His column currently appears in more than 250 newspapers in the United States and in 45 foreign countries."

Intelligence Agent

Walter Lippmann was graduated from Harvard University with honors in 1910. In 1914 he helped found "The New Republic" magazine. He was a member of President Wilson's architects of the term of peace, an intelligence agent in France and the author of an interpretation of Wilson's Fourteen Points.

He became an editorial writer for the New York World in 1921 and subsequently the editor. When that newspaper died in 1931, Lippmann became a newspaper columnist for publications throughout the world.

Liberal Democrat

Called one of the most authoritative voices of liberalism in the United States today, he describes himself as a "liberal democrat—with a lower case d."

Lippmann's articles are articulate and thoughtful. Readers find, often, that they agree with his observations or violently disagree. But read him they do. His column is considered to be the most widely-read in the business.

On Editorial Page

Read Walter Lippmann's column today. And then make a habit of reading it two times each week in the future. His column is another of the fine features that you'll find in The Daily Record.

Castro Terrorists Hijack Airliner

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Terrorists hijacked a Venezuelan airliner Thursday and forced it down in Trinidad where they were seized. The passengers and crewmen returned Thursday night to Caracas.

The hijacking was the latest maneuver by pro-Communist Venezuelan terrorists out to overthrow the pro-Western government of President Romulo Betancourt and sabotage Sunday's national elections.

Trinidad's government handed over the hijackers—five men and a woman—to Venezuelan authorities in Port of Spain. The terrorists were to be returned to Caracas Thursday night, Venezuela's Interior Ministry said. They will be tried under military law and could be sentenced to 30-years each in prison.

An Interior Ministry spokesman identified the leader of the terrorist hijackers as a Commandant Vilno.

Cuba Accused

In a related development, Belancourt's government charged Cuba with aggression, saying Cuba was the source of a cache of arms found buried on a sandy beach of Falcon State Nov. 3. It urged other Latin-American nations to back a Venezuelan protest to the Organization of American States.

Caracas police hunted vainly for a U.S. Army officer, Lt. Col. James K. Chennault of Sherman, Tex., who was kidnapped Wednesday by persons identifying themselves as members of the outlawed Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN). But the kidnappers promised to free Chennault Saturday. A woman telephoned newspapers that he spent a comfortable night and "is enjoying himself."

Many Memorials Proposed For JFK

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson Thursday honored the memory of John F. Kennedy by renaming the Atlantic missile-space center in Florida after the assassinated president.

In his Thanksgiving message to the nation, the President also changed the name of Cape Canaveral to Cape Kennedy.

Earlier, Johnson had asked the Post Office Department to issue a postage stamp in honor of the late president—one of dozens of proposals made throughout the nation to honor the memory of the dead president.

Tocks Island Name

U. S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney of Bethlehem said Tuesday that he would ask the Congress to name the Tocks Island National Recreation Area and Dam the John F. Kennedy National Recreation Area.

Leonard Randolph, Rooney's administrative assistant, said last night that Rooney would first seek approval of the idea from the Kennedy family.

Kennedy's name would be borne from the Cape Cod national seashore to a theater on the campus of the University of Hawaii.

A proposal that 50 million silver dollars, expected to be mined next year, bear the image of Kennedy came from Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev.

Proposals have come up in Congress and elsewhere to give Kennedy's name to the Washington, D.C., Stadium; the National Cultural Center, a peace prize, the Maryland-Delaware freeway that he dedicated shortly before his death, a nuclear submarine, a dormitory at Harvard, the trans-Florida barge canal and a federal building in Detroit.

Another suggestion is that the Peace Corps which the late president founded be renamed the Kennedy Peace Corps.

America Must Stop Political Violence

By Walter Lippmann

The first need of the country is to take to heart the nature of this unspeakable crime. There is no public crisis at home or abroad which demands such instant attention that it cannot wait until we have collected ourselves and can proceed deliberately.

But there is a searing internal crisis within the American spirit, which we have first to realize and then to resolve.

The American future depends on it and our capacity to govern ourselves. What we have to realize is that, though speech and action are free, the safety of the republic is at stake when extremists go unrestrained.

Extremists may profess any ideology. But what they all have in common is that they treat opponents as enemies, as outside the laws and the community of their fellow men.

Not Dallas Alone

What happened in Dallas could, to be sure, have happened in another city. But it must be said that the murder of the President was not the first act of political violence in that city, but one in a series.

The man who is now the President of the United States was mauled by his fellow Texans. The man who represents the United States at the United Nations was spat upon.

In this atmosphere of political violence lived the President's murderer, himself addicted to the fascination of violence in his futile and lonely and brooding existence.

The salient fact about him was his alienation from humanity, from country, family and friends. Nothing within him, it would seem, bound him to the President or to the governor as human beings. No human feeling stayed his hand.

Alienation

In his alienation, Lee Oswald turned to the left. But that was incidental. Those who assaulted Lyndon Johnson and Adlai Stevenson had turned to the right. The common characteristic of all of them was their alienation, the loss of their ties, the rupture of the community.

An extremist is an outsider. For him, the government in Washington is an invading conqueror.

There is no limit, therefore, to his hatred which feeds upon the venom of malice, slander and hallucination.

In Dallas today there is much searching of conscience, and well there should be. For Dallas has long been conspicuous for its tolerance of extremists and for the inability of its decent citizens, undoubtedly the great majority, to restrain the extremists and restore a condition of honest and temperate and reasonable discussion.

It was comforting, therefore, to read on Sunday that the mayor of Dallas, Earle Cabell, had said that "each of us, in prayerful reflection, must search his heart and determine if, through intemperate word or deed, we might have contributed in some fashion to the movement of this mind across the brink of insanity."

We must all follow the mayor of Dallas in that prayerful reflection. For it is only too easy to forget that in a free country there must be not only liberty and equality, but also fraternity.

Hatred And Venom

The only solace for the nation's shame and grief can come from a purge or at least the reduction of the hatred and venom which lie so close to the surface of our national life.

We have allowed the community of the American people to be rent with enmity. Only if and as we can find our way back into the American community will we find our way back to confidence in the American destiny.

We must stop the flow of the poison that when men differ say about taxes or civil rights or Russia, they cannot be reconciled by persuasion and debate and that those who take the other view are implacable enemies.

In the light of this monstrous crime, we can see that in a free country, which we are and intend to be, unrestrained speech and thought are inherently subversive.

Democracy can be made to work only when the bounds of the community are inviolate and stronger than all the parties and factions and interests and sects.

Violence And Cruelty

I wish I felt certain that the self-realization into which grief has shrouded us will endure when we go back about our business. The divisive forces of hatred and ungovernability are strong among us, and the habit of intemperate speech and thought has become deeply ingrained.

It is deepened by the strains of war and the frustrations of this revolutionary age, by the exploitation of violence and cruelty in the mass media, by the profusion of weapons and by the presence of so many who know how to use them.

But I do have much hope in the healing arts of Lyndon Johnson. We can turn to him with confidence. For his great gift is in finding the consensus without which the American system of government with its states and regions, its checks and balances is unworkable.

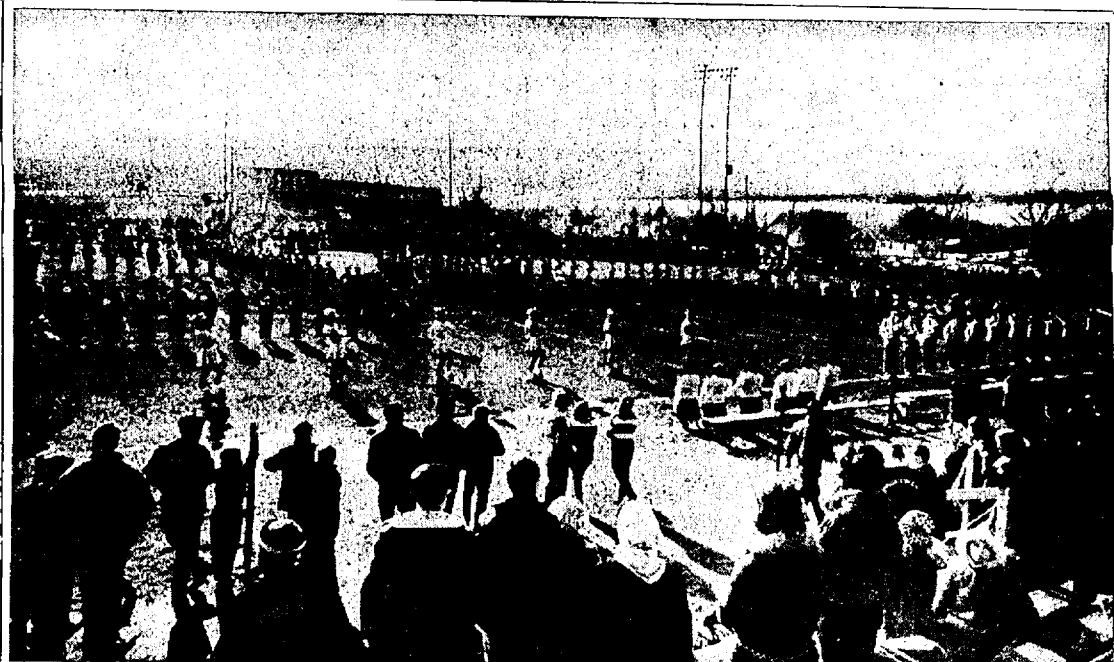

National Consensus

To find the consensus among our divided and angry people is his historic opportunity. To restore the internal peace of the United States is his unique mission.

That done, all else will be manageable.

Canaveral Renamed Cape Kennedy; Mrs. Kennedy Revisits JFK Grave

Jackie Joins Kennedys

Johnson Speaks To Nation

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson said in a Thanksgiving message to the people of America Thursday night that a great leader is dead but a great nation that still has cause to be thankful for many blessings "must move on."

To honor Kennedy, he announced, from this moment on Cape Canaveral, Fla., will be known as Cape Kennedy. The vast missile-launching and space operations base there will be named the John F. Kennedy Space Center.

New Greatness

For himself, Johnson pledged his best efforts "to work for a new American greatness," for "a new day when justice is more secure, when freedom is more universal, when freedom is more strong in every home of all mankind."

Earlier in the day, the President had held several conferences with top advisers and had attended interfaith services in downtown Washington, accompanied by his family.

There Johnson heard a Jewish rabbi in a Methodist pulpit praise the presidential appeal to Congress Wednesday for an end to the teaching of hate and evil and violence, and for achievement of the program bequeathed by the slain President Kennedy.

Great Leader Dead

None of us, the President said, will forget these last seven days.

"A great leader is dead; a great nation must move on," he said.

The President recalled his acquaintance with all the presidents since Herbert Hoover. And he said the greatest burden each president has had to bear has been unthinking hate of some of his fellow Americans.

He added: "Let us all who speak and all who teach and all who preach and all who publish and broadcast and all who read or listen—let them reflect upon their responsibilities to bind our wounds, to heal our sores, to make our society whole and whole for the tasks ahead of us."

Thus, this Southerner, this Texan, again took his stand against inequality of treatment of the races.

All of us, not just some of us, were created in God's image, Johnson said, and all of us, not some, are children of God.

"It is this work that I most wanted us to do, to banish rancor from our words and malice from our hearts, to close down the poison spring of hatred and intolerance and fanaticism; to protect our unity north and south, east and west; to hasten the day when bias of race, religion and region is no more; and to make the day when our great energies and decency and spirit will be free of the burdens that we have borne too long."

It was 2 p.m. before all the Kennedy visitors arrived. The late president's family was the last to come.

5th Grave Visit

Before leaving Washington, Mrs. Kennedy visited her husband's grave in Arlington Cemetery.

Looking calm and composed, she spent about 10 minutes at the grave site in her unannounced visit. It was her fifth visit since the funeral. With her were her sister Lee Radziwill, four White House aides and Secret Service guards.

IN MEMORIAM — Bands of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg line Gordon Giffels Field during halftime ceremonies honoring the late President John F. Kennedy during inter-borough football game yesterday. This tribute was read to Kennedy: "Deep in the heart of all America is the tiny figure of John Kennedy, standing at salute before his father's casket. Today we join him in that salute: To our beloved commander in chief, honored first citizen, brilliant idol of young people of every nation, dedicated statesman in a changeable, space-minded day, idealist who gave his life for the fulfillment of his dreams. Stunned by our own sense of loss, we pray for his family, so courageous in sorrow. Already we begin to feel the immortality of his spirit in our midst—He, too, belongs to the ages." This Thanksgiving Day we pledge to his memory and to our God that he shall not have died in vain. 'His truth goes marching on'.

Civil Rights Action Pressed In House

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders started preparing two parliamentary moves Thursday to prevent the Rules Committee from blocking action on President Johnson's request for action on civil rights legislation.

One would completely bypass the committee. The other would temporarily strip Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of his control over the 15-member group. Smith is opposed to the civil rights bill.

January Action

Both moves are intended to produce early compliance—probably next January—with Johnson's plea for less talk and more action on civil rights as a living memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's speech to a joint session Wednesday ended all talk of adjourning Congress before Dec. 20.

Earlier adjournment "is out," House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told newsmen.

Many members had planned to leave Washington around Dec. 14 and not return until the start of the next session, scheduled for Jan. 3.

No Vote This Year

They still may be able to follow that plan, for it is unlikely that a House vote can be arranged on civil rights this year.

The aim of the leaders' maneuvering is to have a bill ready for a showdown early next year. To do that without Rules Committee cooperation requires considerable time, and the leaders figure now is the time to start.

The first move to circumvent Smith's committee is a seldom-used House operation called the discharge rule. This was initiated in a resolution introduced Wednesday by Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., chairman of a civil rights subcommittee of the House Democratic Study Group.

4-Day Debate

It calls for four days of House debate on the civil rights bill. The resolution went to the Rules Committee, of which Bolling is a member. If Smith calls no committee meeting to consider it for seven legislative days, Bolling then can file a discharge petition to take the issue out of Smith's hands.

Majority Needed

When signed by 218 members, a majority, the petition automatically brings the legislation to the House floor on specified days—the second or fourth Monday of the month following the day on which the 218th signature was affixed.

End Of Violence Asked Across Nation

By The Associated Press

"Let us put an end to the teaching and preaching of hatred and evil and violence," President Johnson has demanded of the nation after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"Let us turn away from the fanatics of the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream."

"I profoundly hope that the terrible days will bind up together in new fellowship, making us one people in our sorrow."

Nationwide Plea

This plea and hope have been voiced repeatedly throughout the nation—in pulpit, capital and editorial—since the assassination.

Many saw in Kennedy's murder an opportunity for renewed strength and unity in America. Texas Gov. John Connally, wounded when Kennedy was killed, was one.

"To shock and stun a nation and its people and the world to what is happening to us through this cancerous growth of extremism," Connally said from his hospital bed. "This is the only answer I can give you why he is gone and I am not."

"The genesis of our self-destruction—if we are going to be destroyed—comes from this extremism."

"It makes you ponder and wonder if you are making the contribution you should make to when a thing like this can happen."

"America has been on a drunken spree of hate and we in Alabama share the blame," said state Circuit Judge Roy Mayhall, Alabama Democratic chairman.

This view was not shared by the New York Daily News, which said: "We think most Americans are going to go right on hating Reds and the more so because one of these rodents killed a much loved young U.S. president."

"This 'we're all to blame' stuff just won't wash, as we see it, and is an insult to 99 Americans out of 100, or maybe 999 out of 1,000."

Good Morning!

Canaveral Renamed Cape Kennedy; Mrs. Kennedy Revisits JFK Grave

Jackie Joins Kennedys

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy went for another look at her husband's grave Thursday, then flew in an Air Force jet to a Thanksgiving Day reunion with the late President's family here.

Three planes brought the gathering Kennedys to Cape Cod to sit down to a traditional Thanksgiving dinner at the oceanfront home of the patriarch of the Kennedy clan, Joseph P. Kennedy.

It was Mrs. Kennedy's first reunion with her 75-year-old father-in-law since the death of her husband.

The gathering of the clan was not as large as had been expected. At the last moment, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy decided to remain at his McLean, Va., estate for Thanksgiving dinner with his wife and eight children.

It was 2 p.m. before all the Kennedy visitors arrived. The late president's family was the last to come.

5th Grave Visit
Before leaving Washington, Mrs. Kennedy visited her husband's grave in Arlington Cemetery.

Looking calm and composed, she spent about 10 minutes at the grave site in her unannounced visit. It was her fifth visit since the funeral. With her were her sister Lee Radziwill, four White House aides and Secret Service guards.

CHRISTMAS SEALS fight TB and other RESPIRATORY DISEASES

The Monroe County Tuberculosis Society reports that 2,109 Christmas Seal letters have been returned with total contributions to date of $1,632. At the same time last year, 2,710 letters had raised $5,766.

IN MEMORIAM — Bands of Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg line Gordon Giffels Field during halftime ceremonies honoring the late President John F. Kennedy during inter-borough football game yesterday. This tribute was read to Kennedy: "Deep in the heart of all America is the tiny figure of John Kennedy, standing at salute before his father's casket. Today we join him in that salute: To our beloved commander in chief, honored first citizen, brilliant idol of young people of every nation, dedicated statesman in a changeable, space-minded day, idealist who gave his life for the fulfillment of his dreams. Stunned by our own sense of loss, we pray for his family, so courageous in sorrow. Already we begin to feel the immortality of his spirit in our midst—He, too, belongs to the ages." This Thanksgiving Day we pledge to his memory and to our God that he shall not have died in vain. "His truth goes marching on."

Civil Rights Action Pressed In House

WASHINGTON (AP)—House leaders started preparing two parliamentary moves Thursday to prevent the Rules Committee from blocking action on President Johnson's request for action on civil rights legislation.

One would completely bypass the committee. The other would temporarily strip Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of his control over the 15-member group. Smith is opposed to the civil rights bill.

January Action
Both moves are intended to produce early compliance—probably next January—with Johnson's plea for less talk and more action on civil rights as a living memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy.

Johnson's speech to a joint session Wednesday ended all talk of adjourning Congress before Dec. 20.

Earlier adjournment "is out," House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., told newsmen.

Many members had planned to leave Washington around Dec. 14 and not return until the start of the next session, scheduled for Jan. 3.

End Of Violence Asked Across Nation

By The Associated Press
"Let us put an end to the teaching and preaching of hatred and evil and violence," President Johnson has demanded of the nation after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"Let us turn away from the fanatics of the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream."

"I profoundly hope that the tragedy and torment of these terrible days will bind us together in new fellowship, making us one people in our sorrow."

Nationwide Plea
This plea and hope have been voiced repeatedly throughout the nation—in pulpits, capitals and editorial—since the assassination.

Many saw in Kennedy's murder an opportunity for renewed strength and unity in America. Texas Gov. John Connally, wounded when Kennedy was shot, said: "To shock and stun a nation and its people and the world to what is happening to us through this cancerous growth of extremism," Connally said from his hospital bed. "This is the

Johnson Speaks To Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said in a Thanksgiving message to the people of America Thursday night that a great leader is dead but a great nation that still has cause to be thankful for many blessings "must move on."

To honor Kennedy, he announced, from this moment on Cape Canaveral, Fla., will be known as Cape Kennedy. The vast missile-launching and space operations base there will be named the John F. Kennedy Space Center.

New Greatness
For himself, Johnson pledged his best efforts "to work for a new American greatness," for "a new day when peace is more secure, when justice is more universal, when freedom is more strong in every home of all mankind."

Earlier in the day, the President had held several conferences with top advisers and had attended interfaith services in downtown Washington, accompanied by his family.

There Johnson heard a Jewish rabbi in a Methodist pulpit praise the presidential appeal to Congress Wednesday for an end to the teaching of hate and evil and violence, and for achievement of the program requested by the slain President Kennedy.

Great Leader Dead
None of us, the President said, will forget these last seven days.

"A great leader is dead; a great nation must move on," he said.

The President recalled his acquaintance with all the presidents since Herbert Hoover. And he said the greatest burden each president has had to bear has been unthinking hate of some of his fellow Americans.

He added:

"Let us all who speak and all who teach and all who preach and all who publish and broadcast and all who read or listen—let them reflect upon their responsibilities to bind our wounds, to heal our sores, to make our society well and whole for the tasks ahead of us."

Thus, this Southerner, this Texan, again took his stand against inequality of treatment of the races.

All of us, not just some of us, were created in God's image, Johnson said, and all of us, not some, are children of God.

"It is this work that I most wanted us to do, to banish racism from our words and malice from our hearts, to close down the poison spring of hatred and intolerance and fanaticism; to protect our unity north and south, east and west; to hasten the day when bias of race, religion and region is no more; and to make the day when our great energies and decency and spirit will be free of the burdens that we have borne too long."

Good Morning!

Anyone who can swallow a pill at a drinking fountain deserves to get well.

State News Roundup

Purdy Denies Police Politics

HARRISBURG (AP)—Col. E. Wilson Purdy said Thursday that recent qualifying examinations given to state policemen were fair and that no politics were involved.

He rejected a charge by Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse that the 2,200-man state police organization is muddled by politics. Morse also had claimed that 80 per cent of the troopers taking the promotional tests had flunked.

Purdy estimated that about 33 per cent of the men taking the test passed it, adding that the results provided a pool of qualified men more than large enough to fill various grades in the next year.

"I sincerely regret there has been any political implication here," Purdy said, adding: "My primary aim is to see that the Pennsylvania state police are not involved in politics in any way."

Purdy also defended the selection of a private firm, McCann Associates Inc., of Philadelphia, to prepare the test.

He said both he and the Civil Service Commission, which administered the examinations, agreed that the Philadelphia firm should be brought in to provide the most professional type of test.

State Fighting Land Speculation

HARRISBURG (AP) The State Highways Department is trying a new approach to prevent land speculators from reaping large profits on right-of-way transactions for roadbuilding projects.

The plan was formulated last spring by Highways Secretary Henry D. Harrel and recently put into effect for the first time in connection with the controversial Mid-County Expressway route in Delaware and Montgomery counties.

The plan simply is to give public notice of the approximate location of major projects in the planning stage.

It is hoped that the public disclosure will work against speculators who would buy large parcels of land in the area of proposed routes with the hope of selling it to the state for inflated prices.

Harrel says the department will file in county courthouses maps showing 200-foot wide corridors through which new roads would be run.

Scranton Skips Political Dinner

HARRISBURG (AP) Gov. Scranton will not be among the top politicians and business leaders attending the Pennsylvania society dinner in New York Dec. 7.

An aide said Thursday that the governor decided to pass up the annual dinner, which usually is the start of Pennsylvania's political year, because of the death of President Kennedy.

The governor proclaimed a 30-day mourning period for Pennsylvania and plans to remain inactive politically for that time. Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, of New York also cancelled his scheduled address before the society.

27 Hospitals Seek US Funds

HARRISBURG (AP) The State Public Welfare Department proposed $10,000,000 in federal funds Tuesday to help finance $30 million in construction work at 27 Pennsylvania hospitals.

The proposals are subject to the approval and acceptance of the U.S. Public Health Service.

The hospitals include: Franklin Hospital, Franklin, $723,333; Shenango Valley Osteopathic Hospital, Fairport, $37,000; Potter County Memorial Hospital, Coudersport, $833,000; Renovo Hospital, Renovo, $161,000; Greenville Hospital, Greenville, $200,000; Clearfield Hospital, Clearfield, $326,350.

Community Medical Center, Scranton, $333,300; Conemaugh Valley Memorial Hospital, Johnstown, $267,000; Wyoming Valley Hospital, Wilkes-Barre, $100,000; Clearfield County Nursing Home, Clearfield, $170,000; Warren County Nursing Home, Youngville, $250,000.

Red Prisoner Returns To Penn

PHILADELPHIA (AP) A graduate student held captive by the Russians for two years says he plans to return to the University of Pennsylvania next year. Marvin E. Makinen, 24, of Ashburnham, Mass., was freed from a Soviet prison last Oct. 11 along with the Rev. Walter Cizek, a Roman Catholic priest, from Shenandoah, Pa., in exchange for two Soviet spies.

Christine Slinko, the 14-year-old Cleveland girl who fearfully underwent amputation of her right leg on Nov. 11 because of a malignant tumor, wrote a letter on Thanksgiving Eve to give thanks.

Pale and still in some pain, Christine penned on a piece of Metropolitan General Hospital report paper a note "to all my dear friends."

She wrote:

"I would like to thank you for all the wonderful things you sent me and all the wonderful things you have done for me.

"Your thoughtfulness and good cheer have really helped me up and helped me to face the future with courage. I wish I could repay you somehow but at least I will keep you in my prayers.

"Everybody at the hospital has really been nice to me and my mother. Keep praying for us."

very thankful he could do so.

Knowles, 14, is the only person in medical history as far as doctors can determine, with a successfully re-implanted limb.

His right arm was completely severed from just below his shoulder by the wheels of a freight train May 23, 1962. It was later replaced by a team of surgeons at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., voted with the majority Tuesday as the Senate tabled and killed a bill by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., which sought to ban use of credit by government agencies to finance any trade with Communist nations including the proposed sale of surplus U.S. wheat.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., voted in favor of the bill, which was defeated 57-35.

BUCK HILL FALLS — Richard Edgerton was elected executive vice president and secretary of the Buck Hill Falls Co. at a recent board of directors meeting.

He continues as general manager in full change of all company operations.

Rep. Tom Sted, D-Okla., Wednesday apologized for, but did not withdraw, a charge that he knows a senator with two call girls on his payroll.

The Senate, saying it had been insulted, angrily demanded that Sted name the senator. In retaliation it sent a congressional money bill back to a conference committee.

The legislation snarled in the row is a $163.2 million appropriation to pay annual costs of operating both the House and Senate this year.

Rooney Introduces JFK Medal Of Honor Bill

WASHINGTON — Rep. Fred B. Rooney, D-Pa., Wednesday introduced a bill authorizing President Johnson to award the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest award for valor, to the late President Kennedy.

At the same time, he joined forces with Rep. Richard Schickel, R-Pa., in a drive to make the assassination of the President or vice president of the United States a federal, rather than a local or state, offense.

On the awarding of the medal, Rooney said:

"Like all brave men who have served this country and many who have laid down their lives for it, John Fitzgerald Kennedy deserves the highest honors we can bestow upon him, his memory and his family. No other man in this century has more brilliantly demonstrated the qualities of quiet courage and determination which have been the mark of American patriots since this Country was founded."

The bill introduced by Congressman Rooney says:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the President of the United States is authorized to award posthumously in the name of Congress, a Medal of Honor to the late John Fitzgerald Kennedy, in recognition of his unflinching courage and devotion to duty as the leader of this Nation and the free world as Commander in Chief, his dedication to all the people of his country and to the believe that this Nation's war against intolerance and poverty and ignorance is a never-ending struggle in which we were, and are, all comrades-in-arms, and his immeasurable contributions to the cause of a just and lasting peace among men."

Spotlight On People

Christine Simko, the 14-year-old Cleveland girl who fearfully underwent amputation of her right leg on Nov. 11 because of a malignant tumor, wrote a letter on Thanksgiving Eve to give thanks.

Pale and still in some pain, Christine penned on a piece of Metropolitan General Hospital report paper a note "to all my dear friends."

She wrote:
"I would like to thank you for all the wonderful things you sent me and all the wonderful things you have done for me."

"Your thoughtfulness and good cheer have really pepped me up and helped me to face the future with courage. I wish I could repay you somehow but at least I will keep you in my prayers."

"Everybody at the hospital has really been nice to me and my mother. Keep praying for us."

British Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home said Wednesday night he and other foreigners visiting Washington for the Kennedy funeral were "greatly impressed" by President Lyndon Johnson.

He forecast that close Anglo-American cooperation would continue under Johnson and also expressed confidence Johnson would pursue President Kennedy's objective of a further lessening of tension with Russia.

Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., Wednesday apologized for, but did not withdraw, a charge that he knows a senator with two call girls on his payroll.

The Senate, saying it had been insulted, angrily demanded that Steed name the senator. In retaliation it sent a congressional money bill back to a conference committee.

The legislation snarled in the row is a $163.2 million appropriation to pay annual costs of operating both the House and Senate this year.

Everett (Red) Knowles of Somerville, Mass., ate his Thanksgiving turkey yesterday with both hands — and was very thankful he could do so. Knowles, 14, is the only person in medical history as far as doctors can determine, with a successfully re-implanted limb.

His right arm was completely severed from just below his shoulder by the wheels of a freight train May 23, 1962. It was later replaced by a team of surgeons at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., voted with the majority Tuesday as the Senate tabled and killed a bill by Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., which sought to ban use of credit by government agencies to finance any trade with Communist nations including the proposed sale of surplus U.S. wheat.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., voted in favor of the bill, which was defeated 57-35.

Rooney Introduces JFK Medal Of Honor Bill

WASHINGTON — Rep. Fred B. Rooney, D-Pa., Wednesday introduced a bill authorizing President Johnson to award the Medal of Honor, the nation's highest award for valor, to the late President Kennedy.

At the same time, he joined forces with Rep. Richard Schweiker, R-Pa., in a drive to make the assassination of the President or vice president of the United States a federal offense.

On the awarding of the medal, Rooney said:

"Like all brave men who have served this country and many who have laid down their lives for it, John Fitzgerald Kennedy deserves the highest honors we can bestow upon him, his memory and his family."

The bill introduced by Congressman Rooney says:

"Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, that the President of the United States is authorized to award posthumously in the name of Congress, a Medal of Honor to the late John Fitzgerald Kennedy, in recognition of his unflinching courage and devotion to duty as the leader of this Nation and the free world as Commander in Chief, his dedication to all the people of his country and to the belie that this Nation's war against intolerance and poverty and ignorance is a never-ending struggle in which we, and are, all comrades-in-arms, and his immeasurable contributions to the cause of a just and lasting peace among men."

President Kennedy's Thanksgiving Proclamation

This is the text of the Thanksgiving Day Proclamation issued Nov. 5 by the late President John F. Kennedy. It was his last proclamation and one of his last official statements:

Over three centuries ago our forefathers in Virginia and in Massachusetts far from home in a lonely wilderness set aside a time for thanksgiving.

On the appointed day, they gave reverent thanks for their safety, for the health of their children, for the fertility of their fields, for the laws which bound them together and for the faith which united them under their God.

So, too when the Colonies achieved their independence, our first President in the first year of his first administration proclaimed November 26, 1789, as "a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God" and called upon the people of the new republic to "beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions . . . to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue . . . and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best."

And so too in the midst of America's tragic Civil War, President Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday of November, 1863, as a day to renew our gratitude for America's "fruitful fields" for our "national strength and vigor" and for our "singular deliverance and blessings."

Much time has passed since the first Colonists came to rocky shores and dark forests of an unknown continent, much time since President Washington led a young people into the experience of nationhood, much time since President Lincoln saw the American nation through the ordeal of fraternal war — and in these years our population, our plenty and our power have all grown apace.

Today we are a nation of nearly two hundred million souls, stretching from coast to coast, on into the Pacific and north toward the Arctic, a nation enjoying the fruits of an ever-expanding agriculture and industry and achieving standards of living unknown in previous history.

We give our humble thanks for this. Yet, as our power has grown, so has our peril. Today we give our thanks, most of all, for the ideals of honor and faith we inherit from our forefathers — for the decency of purpose, steadfastness of resolve and strength of will, for the courage and the humility, which they possessed and which we must seek every day to emulate.

As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words but to live by them. Let us therefore proclaim our gratitude to Providence for manifold blessings—let us be humbly thankful for inherited ideals—and let us resolve to share those blessings and those ideals with our fellow human beings throughout the world.

Now, therefore, I, John F. Kennedy, President of the United States, in consonance with the joint resolution of Congress approved December 26, 1941, 55 Stat. 862 (5 U.S.C. 87 B) designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 23, 1963 as a day of national thanksgiving.

On that day let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist.

John F. Kennedy

Comment Of The Day

"It could have occurred in any other city in America.

"It is nothing more than a manifestation of an extremism on both sides than many believe is the genesis of our self-destruction if we're ever going to be destroyed.

"I'm not the least fearful of any foreign enemy so long as we have within ourselves not hate but human understanding, not passion and prejudice but reason and tolerance and not ignorance but knowledge and the willingness to use that knowledge."

—Texas Gov. John B. Connally Jr., shot at the same time as President Kennedy last Friday, speaking in a hospital bed interview.

Good Luck Ring

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson returned to the Capitol for one day wearing a jade good luck ring. If the wishes of the giver could make it so, the ring could be a peculiarly powerful talisman.

It was given to LBJ by the man who most wishes him good luck, and is most likely to do something toward wish fulfillment.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield gave the ring to the 36th President when Johnson had Senator Mansfield's job, and the statesman from Montana was Johnson's assistant, or Whip, to use the Senate's horse - and - buggy phraseology. At that time Johnson and his Whip wished him good luck so all-encompassingly he even tapped the superstitious.

LBJ put on the ring and has worn it whenever he felt in particular need of the smiles of good fortune. With the amulet on his finger, his luck in clinging onto Senate control held, although the going was pretty difficult at times, owing to Senate Democratic mavericks, who are just now beginning to show symptoms of being more tractable.

Senator Mansfield bought the ring with the supposedly magical properties in Hong Kong. He may not care to be reminded of it now, but he didn't buy it for either Lyndon Johnson or good luck in mind. Mike bought it for himself, with no other thought in mind except that he liked it.

However, when he got back to Washington and observed the threats of the mavericks he remembered the properties supposed to be invested in the ring. While being as unsuspicious as any man on earth, Mike figured that no possible bet in Lyndon's favor should be overlooked. He slipped the talisman off his own finger and presented it to his chief.

Now we come to a situation that may appeal to dabblers in the supernatural. Because of his generosity, the present Majority Leader has no jade good luck ring. But the Minority Leader has.

Senator Everett M. Dirksen always wears a jade good luck ring, almost identical with the one Mansfield gave Johnson.

Dirksen bought his own for himself and kept it.

Many who went on the 1960 campaign trails with Kennedy and Johnson, Nixon and Lodge, are letting their imaginations play with what LBJ may do in 1964 when he goes after the Presidency, as it is a foregone conclusion hereabouts, and everywhereabouts, that he will.

The imaginative players wonder whether Johnson will be thorough enough in whistle stopping to revive the Culppeper Club.

The Culppeper Club flourished for a time after the election, but then was allowed to languish, more the pity. It deserved perpetuation — like the Daughters of the Revolution and other organizations rooted in American history.

The Culppeper Club was born of LBJ's Vice Presidential railroad tour of the South. An early stop was Culppeper, Va. There Mr. Johnson delivered his prepared rear platform address, but as the train was pulling out, he thought of a crusher.

Over the noise of the train, and the cheers of the multitude, he could be heard in belated voice.

"What has Dick Nixon ever done for Culppeper?"

The Culppeper Club was formed then and there. Everybody on the train, including LBJ when he was reminded of the devastation he had wrought, by the question, on the Republican nominee for President, joined up.

All took a club oath that, alas, was allowed to dissipate. Under the exigencies of time and stress they pledged to keep their membership paid up, and to greet each other forever with the club yell.

"What has Dick Nixon ever done for Culppeper?"

Will Bobby Kennedy Run For Vice President?

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Robert Kennedy looms as a distinct possibility as President Johnson's running mate next year.

This dramatic political likelihood was a major topic of discussion among the scores of Democratic governors, national committeemen and other party leaders who poured into the Capitol for the funeral of the assassinated President.

In between the tragic obsequies, the politicians conjectured worriedly about their own and the party's prospects in 1964.

Uppermost in these muffled discussions was the question of the vice presidential choice. On that, three factors appeared to be taken for granted:

President Johnson will head the ticket. None of the Democratic chiefs indicated the slightest doubt about that.

There were no hints or any other intimations that he might be challenged for the nomination. All the talk assumed he is now the top party leader and will be its standard-bearer.

Johnson's preference will be decisive in the selection of the No. 2 man on the ticket. There was much talk about anticipated jockeying and maneuvering for his favor; that potent pressures will be exerted in behalf of various candidates. But the feeling was general that whoever Johnson gave the nod to would be approved by the convention.

The Attorney General, 38-year-old brother of the late President and his closest adviser and confidant, must be considered a leading aspirant for the vice presidency. Among his intimates it has long been no secret that "Bobby" harbors ardent national political ambitions and hopes to emulate his slain brother.

The view also was general among the Democratic politicians, particularly from the West and Industrial North, that the Attorney General has some ace cards in his aggressive and determined hands.

As one key Midwestern leader expressed it, "Lyndon Johnson will have to make the same kind of a deal with Bobby Kennedy that his late brother made with Johnson in 1960 to assure victory. A Johnson - Kennedy ticket is going to be the answer to what our party needs in next year's very uncertain election."

The view also was general among the Democratic politicians, particularly from the West and Industrial North, that the Attorney General has some ace cards in his aggressive and determined hands.

As one key Midwestern leader expressed it, "Lyndon Johnson will have to make the same kind of a deal with Bobby Kennedy that his late brother made with Johnson in 1960 to assure victory. A Johnson - Kennedy ticket is going to be the answer to what our party needs in next year's very uncertain election."

As a result of President Kennedy's death, next year's election is now wide open. As he himself said, he expected a "long and hard fight," and with him out of the picture, it will be infinitely more so. Johnson is going to need every ounce of support he can muster to win.

"Two large and possibly crucial voter groups Kennedy could have definitely counted on were Catholics and Negroes. I know that is absolutely true in my county. Those blocs were a clutch for Kennedy, and I would say the same is virtually true in every other metropolitan and industrial center. But that isn't the case as far as Johnson is concerned. He still has to win these groups as conclusively as they were for his predecessor.

"One of the best ways he can do that is by having a Kennedy as running mate. And that Kennedy is Bobby, because in the public mind, and particularly these voter blocs, he is inseparably associated with his brother.

"Bobby is a Catholic and he is a foremost champion of civil rights. That will hurt in some areas and with some elements. But on the basis of the overwhelming sentiment of my electorate, that hostility is greatly offset by the other two considerations.

"For us, a Johnson-Kennedy ticket means a winner from top to bottom. And that's what I'm going to tell the President as soon as I can. And you mark my word, a lot of others will do the same thing. Some of them have already told me so."

A well known border state leader added another point: "One way to both keep Bobby in and out would be to run him for Vice President, that would take him out of the Justice Department — and a lot of other things, too."

The prisoner was brought before the judge in Moscow, charged with murder. The judge called the poor man to the bar, and said, "Comrade, one thing you will get here is a fair trial. So don't be frightened, speak right up. Which current do you prefer — A. C. or D. C.?"

For Today's Deep Thinkers: There ought to be, behind the door of every happy, contented man, someone standing with a hammer, continually reminding him with a tap that there are unhappy people.

Stories Behind Words

by William S. Penfield

Fifth Column The expression "fifth column" originated in the Spanish Civil War, which began in 1936 and ended in 1939.

Early in the war Gen. Gonzalo Quipio de Llano of the rebel forces began propaganda broadcasts from his headquarters in Seville.

Late in 1936 four rebel columns, or armies, were advancing on Madrid, the capital. De Llano called on Madrid to surrender. He said that in addition to the four columns marching on Madrid, there was a "fifth column" at work inside the city.

The term came to denote any secret group which works from within for the downfall of a government or other organization.

Plan For Better Years

(Last In A Series)

Hugh Moore Jr., Easton realtor and architect who doubles as a leading force behind the Joint Planning Commission of Lehigh, Northampton and Warren (N.J.) counties has some interesting side views on planning for the Lehigh Valley.

The young Yale graduate remarked that Lehigh Valley's economic growth is faster than the average in the state of Pennsylvania but slower than the norm in the United States.

This is a noteworthy observation when you consider that Moore went on to say, "Things will get worse in the region instead of better in the next 10 years."

Moore, using a survey his planning commission conducted, predicted a higher rate of unemployment will hit the area before his pet word "outmigration" takes hold and sets up the valley for a sound economic program.

Moore also looks ahead in saying "things will get better." Project 70, the state's real estate program which was recently given approval by voters at the polls, is one item on which he pins the hope of the future.

Another project which makes Moore smile is the Lehigh Island multi-purpose dam — the project which will be based in Monroe and Pike counties.

The Easton resident makes a point that we cannot wait for outside help. He puts it this way, "Don't wait for big money to invade." Use ingenuity and produce attractive scenes to draw industry, he advises.

Moore urged community leaders, township, borough and city officials to take a long and hard look at their specific situations.

While the outlook doesn't look too bright for the immediate future, regional planners and councils should take stock and be prepared for the better years, Moore says.

What does Moore mean? Well he says that we are reaching the age of maturity. We should pause, look and see where we have been and where we are going.

Reexamination from time to time doesn't hurt either. You could say it is more or less planning of the planning.

With the first of the year rolling around and two new commissioners scheduled to take office in Monroe County, planning and zoning will be one topic that will occupy more than a few minutes of their time.

Naturally these heads of the county administration will have to unify, duplicate and improvise scores of problems with planning groups in the boroughs and townships.

It is not an easy task ahead, but it is one that has to be faced, preferably now than later.

The Pennsylvania Story

The Shortest Session

By Mason Denison

HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

Commitment (Constitutional)—When Pennsylvania's legislative branch convened this week, some sort of "briefness" record must have been established for a first-of-the-week gathering.

Both the State House of Representatives and the Senate gathered on the specified day (Monday) but within the space of a couple minutes both chambers had formally assembled (as specified in their adjournment resolution last week) and adjourned again until next week.

Reason for the somber and brief gathering of course was for observance of the funeral of the late President John F. Kennedy but why did the handful of lawmakers convene at all? . . . In actuality, their reconvening resolutions read simply and routinely that they would convene again this past Monday.

However, in the interim between the adoption of the resolution (last Wednesday) and Monday of this week, President Kennedy was assassinated . . . Under terms of Pennsylvania's Constitution there was no choice other than for Pennsylvania's two legislative houses to reconvene on the dates specified . . . Only a handful of House and Senate members were on hand to carry out the constitutional commitment — most others were back home taking part in local memorial services, the absences having been cleared earlier with legislative officers.

Hardly a fallen leaf stirred on Capitol Hill that day (Monday)—and both the American Flag and the State Flag hung limp and motionless at half-mast from their poles atop the Statehouse.

The Scholarship Boom—According to the State Department of Public Instruction this week, some 11,400 high school seniors took the State Scholarship Examination given earlier in the month at more than 100 test centers in the State's 67 counties.

This total represents more than one and one-half times the largest previous number of candidates for the State Scholarships, the department said—7539 in March, 1963 . . . The 1961 figures were the first to be given during the fall semester of the candidates' senior year.

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A particularly gratifying report was released by the American Heart Association about the safety of pregnancy for women who have certain heart ailments.

It was not long ago that women with severe heart conditions were specifically warned against pregnancy because of the additional risk it entailed to mother and child. The fears induced by such warnings were reflected in the attitude of these women towards marriage and the question of childbirth.

During the last ten years, heart operations have passed from scientific speculation to daily realities.

Now the correction of congenital heart defects and rheumatic heart disease by open heart surgery has increased the safety of pregnancy and the ease of delivery and has safeguarded the health of the new-born baby.

Study Of Cases

Dr. J. D. Mortenson and Dr. Homer S. Ellsworth of Utah undertook the study of 168 women before and after heart surgery. Their most dramatic finding was that the complications of pregnancy were astonishingly reduced by 80 percent in those patients who had heart surgery.

Women with heart conditions have for a long time considered submitting themselves to voluntary sterilization to avoid pregnancy, having been warned of the potential danger.

Not Warranted

Dr. Ellsworth and Dr. Mortenson conclude from their study that such sterilization is not warranted until careful consideration has been given to the possibility of correcting or improving the heart function through surgery.

An additional encouraging finding indicated that when heart surgery became necessary during pregnancy, the operation could be carried out without endangering the mother or the baby.

An observation of psychological importance emerged from this detailed study of the rela-

Speaking Of Your Health:

Heart Surgery And Pregnancy

Relationship between heart disease and pregnancy.

Some of the patients who had never been pregnant had considered themselves sterile prior to heart surgery. After the heart surgery was successfully performed, pregnancy occurred.

Women who thought of themselves as "cardiac cripples" had apparently developed emotional sterility. When their fears and anxieties were removed by successful heart surgery, the emotional limitations, it seemed, disappeared.

Double Benefit

Modern-day heart surgery, combined with psychological support, has had a two-fold benefit for women with serious heart conditions who want to have children. Not only has safe and uneventful pregnancy been made possible, but these women have been returned to greater health as mothers, wives and members of the community.

President Kennedy's Thanksgiving Proclamation

This is the text of the Thanksgiving Day Proclamation issued Nov. 5 by the late President John F. Kennedy. It was his last proclamation and one of his last official statements:

Over three centuries ago our forefathers in Virginia and in Massachusetts far from home in a lonely wilderness set aside a time for thanksgiving.

On the appointed day, they gave reverent thanks for their safety, for the health of their children, for the fertility of their fields, for the laws which bound them together and for the faith which united them under their God.

So, too when the Colonies achieved their independence, our first President in the first year of his first administration proclaimed November 26, 1789, as "a day of public thanksgiving and prayer to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God" and called upon the people of the new republic to "beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions . . . to promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue . . . and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as He alone knows to be best."

And so too in the midst of America's tragic Civil War, President Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday of November, 1863, as a day to renew our gratitude for America's "fruitful fields" for our "national strength and vigor" and for our "singular deliverance and blessings."

Much time has passed since the first Colonists came to rocky shores and dark forests of an unknown continent, much time since President Washington led a young people into the experience of nationhood, much time since President Lincoln saw the American nation through the ordeal of fraternal war — and in these years our population, our plenty and our power have all grown apace.

Today we are a nation of nearly two hundred million souls, stretching from coast to coast, on into the Pacific and north toward the Arctic, a nation enjoying the fruits of an ever-expanding agriculture and industry and achieving standards of living unknown in previous history.

We give our humble thanks for this. Yet, as our power has grown, so has our peril. Today we give our thanks, most of all, for the ideals of honor and faith we inherit from our forefathers — for the decency of purpose, steadfastness of resolve and strength of will, for the courage and the humility, which they possessed and which we must seek very day to emulate.

As we express our gratitude, we must never forget that the highest appreciation is not to utter words but to live by them.

Let us therefore proclaim our gratitude to Providence for manifold blessings—let us be humbly thankful for inherited ideals—and let us resolve to share those blessings and those ideals with our fellow human beings throughout the world.

Now, therefore, I, John F. Kennedy, President of the United States, in consonance with the joint resolution of Congress approved December 26, 1941, 55 Stat. 862 (5 U.S.C. 87 B) designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day do hereby proclaim Thursday, November 28, 1963 as a day of national thanksgiving.

On that day let us gather in sanctuaries dedicated to worship and in homes blessed by family affection to express our gratitude for the glorious gifts of God; and let us earnestly and humbly pray that He will continue to guide and sustain us in the great unfinished tasks of achieving peace, justice and understanding among all men and all nations and of ending misery and suffering wherever they exist.

John F. Kennedy

Comment Of The Day

"It could have occurred in any other city in America.

"It is nothing more than a manifestation of an extremism on both sides than many believe is the genesis of our self-destruction if we're ever going to be destroyed.

"I'm not the least fearful of any foreign enemy so long as we have within ourselves not hate but human understanding, not passion and prejudice but reason and tolerance and not ignorance but knowledge and the willingness to use that knowledge."

Good Luck Ring

WASHINGTON — President Lyndon B. Johnson returned to the Capitol for one day wearing a jade good luck ring. If the wishes of the giver could make it so, the ring could be a peculiarly powerful talisman. It was given to LBJ by the man who most wished him good luck, and is most able to do something toward wish fulfillment.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield gave the ring to the 36th President when Johnson had Senator Mansfield's job, and the statesman from Montana was Johnson's assistant, or Whip, to use the Senate's horse - and - buggy phraseology. At that time Johnson and his Whip wished him good luck so all-encompassingly he even tapped the superstitions.

LBJ put on the ring and has worn it whenever he felt in particular need of the smiles of good fortune. With the amulet on his finger, his luck in clinging onto Senate control held, although the going was pretty difficult at times, owing to Senate Democratic mavericks, who are just now beginning to show symptoms of being more tractable.

Senator Mansfield bought the ring with the supposedly magical properties in Hong Kong. He may not care to be reminded of it now, but he didn't buy it with either Lyndon Johnson or good luck in mind. Mike bought it for himself, with no other thought in mind except that he liked it.

However, when he got back to Washington and observed the threats of the mavericks he remembered the properties supposed to be invested in the ring. While being as unsuperstitious as any man on earth, Mike figured that no possible bet in Lyndon's favor should be overlooked. He slipped the talisman off his own finger and presented it to his chief.

Now we come to a situation that may appeal to dabblers in the supernatural. Because of his generosity, the present Majority Leader has no jade good luck ring. But the Minority Leader has.

Senator Everett M. Dirksen always wears a jade good luck ring, almost identical with the one Mansfield gave Johnson.

Dirksen bought his own for himself and kept it.

Many who went on the 1960 campaign trails with Kennedy and Johnson, Nixon and Lodge, are letting their imaginations play with what LBJ may do in 1964 when he goes after the Presidency, as it is a foregone conclusion hereabouts, and everywhereabouts, that he will.

The imaginative players wonder whether Johnson will be thorough enough in whistle stopping to revive the Cuipepper Club.

The Cuipepper Club flourished for a time after the election, but then was allowed to languish, more's the pity. It deserved perpetuation — like the Daughters of the Revolution and other organizations rooted in American history.

The Cuipepper Club was born of LBJ's Vice Presidential railroad tour of the South. An early stop was Cuipepper, Va. There Mr. Johnson delivered his prepared rear platform address, but as the train was pulling out, he thought of a crusher.

Over the noise of the train, and the cheers of the multitude, he could be heard to belowl:

"What has Dick Nixon ever done for Cuipepper?"

The Cuipepper Club was formed then and there. Everybody on the train, including LBJ when he was reminded of the devastation he had wrought, by the question, on the Republican nominee for President, joined up.

All took a club oath that, alas, was allowed to dissipate. Under the exigencies of time and stress they pledged to keep their membership paid up, and to greet each other forever with the club yell:

"What has Dick Nixon ever done for Cuipepper?"

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Attorney General Robert Kennedy looms as a distinct possibility as President Johnson's running mate next year.

This dramatic political likelihood was a major topic of discussion among the scores of Democratic governors, national committeemen and other party leaders who poured into the Capital for the funeral of the assassinated President.

In between the tragic obsequies, the politicians conjectured worriedly about that own and the party's prospects in 1964.

Uppermost in these muffled discussions was the question of the vice presidential choice. On that, three factors appeared to be taken for granted:

President Johnson will head the ticket. None of the Democratic chiefs indicated the slightest doubt about that. There were no hints or any other intimations that he might be challenged for the nomination. All the talk assumed he is now the top party leader and will be its standard-bearer.

Johnson's preference will be decisive in the selection of the No. 2 man on the ticket. There was much talk about anticipated jockeying and maneuvering for his favor; that potent pressures will be exerted in behalf of various candidates. But the feeling was general that whoever Johnson gave the nod to would be approved by the convention.

The Attorney General, 35-year-old brother of the late President and his closest adviser and confidant, must be considered a leading aspirant for the vice presidency. Among his intimates it has long been no secret that "Bobby" harbors ardent national political ambitions and hopes to emulate his slain brother.

The view also was general among the Democratic politicians, particularly from the West and industrial North, that the Attorney General has some ace cards in his aggressive and determined hands.

As one key Midwestern leader expressed it, "Lyndon Johnson will have to make the same kind of a deal with Bobby Kennedy that his late brother made with Johnson in 1960 to assure victory. A Johnson - Kennedy ticket is going to be the answer to what our party needs in next year's very uncertain election."

The Way They Figure It — A highly influential Democratic leader from Philadelphia, which gave the late President a phenomenal 330,000 majority that swung Pennsylvania into his column and thus nailed down his hairline election, analyzed the Attorney General's prospects this way:

"As a result of President Kennedy's death, next year's election is now wide open. As he himself said, he expected a 'long and hard fight,' and with him out of the picture, it will be infinitely more so. Johnson is going to need every ounce of support he can muster to win.

"Two large and possibly crucial voter groups Kennedy could have definitely counted on were Catholics and Negroes. I know that is absolutely true in my county. Those blocs were a cinch for Kennedy, and I would say the same is virtually true in every other metropolitan and industrial center. But that isn't the case as far as Johnson is concerned. He still has to win these groups as conclusively as they were for his predecessor.

"One of the best ways he can do that is by having a Kennedy as running mate. And that Kennedy is Bobby, because in the public mind, and particularly those voter blocs, he is inseparably associated with his brother.

"Bobby is a Catholic and he is a foremost champion of civil rights. That will hurt in some areas and with some elements. But on the basis of the overwhelming sentiment of my electorate, that hostility is greatly offset by the other two considerations.

"For us, a Johnson-Kennedy ticket means a winner from top to bottom. And that's what I'm going to tell the President as soon as I can. And you mark my word, a lot of others will do the same thing. Some of them have already told me so."

A well known border state leader added another point: "One way to both keep Bobby in and out would be to run him for Vice President, that would take him out of the Justice Department — and a lot of other things, too."

There ought to be, behind the door of every happy, contented man, someone standing with a hammer, continually reminding him with a tap that there are unhappy people.

For Today's Deep Thinkers: The expression "fifth column" originated in the Spanish Civil War, which began in 1936 and ended in 1939.

Early in the war Gen. Gonzalo Queipo de Llano of the rebel forces began propagandizing from his headquarters in Seville.

Late in 1936 four rebel columns, or armies, were advancing on Madrid, the capital. De Llano called on Madrid to surrender. He said that in addition to the four columns marching on Madrid, there was a "fifth column" at work inside the city.

The term came to denote any secret group which works from within for the downfall of a government or other organization.

Plan For Better Years

(Last In A Series) Hugh Moore Jr., Easton realtor and architect who doubles as a leading force behind the Joint Planning Commission of Lehigh, Northampton and Warren (N.J.) counties has some interesting side views on planning for the Lehigh Valley.

The young Yale graduate remarked that Lehigh Valley's economic growth is faster than the average in the state of Pennsylvania but slower than the norm in the United States.

This is a noteworthy observation that Moore went on to say, "things will get worse in the region instead of better in the next 10 years."

Moore, using a survey his planning commission conducted, predicted a higher rate of unemployment will hit the area before his pet word "out-migration" takes hold and sets up the valley for a sound economic program.

The Pennsylvania Story

The Shortest Session

By Mason Denison HARRISBURG — Reporter's Notebook:

Commitment (Constitutional)—When Pennsylvania's legislative branch convened this week, some sort of "briefness" record must have been established for a first-of-the-week gathering.

Both the State House of Representatives and the Senate gathered on the specified day (Monday) but within the space of a couple minutes both chambers had formally assembled (as specified in their adjournment resolution last week) and adjourned again until next week.

Reason for the somber and brief gathering of course was for observance of the funeral of the late President John F. Kennedy—but why did the handful of lawmakers convene at all? . . . In actuality, their

Moore also looks ahead in saying "things will get better." Project 70, the state's real estate program which was recently given approval by voters at the polls, is one item on which he pins the hope of the future.

Another project which makes Moore smile is the Tocks Island multi-purpose dam — the project which will be based in Monroe and Pike counties.

The Easton resident makes a point that we cannot wait for outside help. He puts it this way, "Don't wait for big money to invade." Use ingenuity and produce attractive scenes to draw industry, he advises.

Moore urged community leaders, township, borough and city officials to take a long and hard look at their specific situations.

While the outlook doesn't look too bright for the immediate future, regional planners and councils should take stock and be prepared for the better years, Moore says.

What does Moore mean? Well he says that we are reaching the age of maturity. We should pause, look and see where we have been and where we are going.

Reexamination from time to time doesn't hurt either. You could say it is more or less planning of the planning.

With the first of the year rolling around and two new commissioners scheduled to take office in Monroe County, planning and zoning will be one topic that will occupy more than a few minutes of their time.

Naturally these heads of the county administration will have to unify, duplicate and improvise scores of problems with planning groups in the boroughs and townships.

It is not an easy task ahead, but it is one that has to be faced, preferably now than later.

Speaking Of Your Health:

Heart Surgery And Pregnancy

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D. A particularly gratifying report was released by the American Heart Association about the safety of pregnancy for women who have certain heart ailments.

It was not long ago that women with severe heart conditions were specifically warned against pregnancy because of the additional risk it entailed to mother and child. The fears induced by such warnings were reflected in the attitude of these women towards marriage and the question of childbirth.

During the last ten years, heart operations have passed from scientific speculation into daily realities.

Now the correction of congenital heart defects and rheumatic heart disease by open heart surgery has increased the safety of pregnancy and the ease of delivery and has safeguarded the health of the newborn baby.

Study Of Cases

Dr. J. D. Mortensen and Dr. Homer S. Ellsworth of Utah undertook the study of 168 women before and after heart surgery. Their most dramatic finding was that the complications of pregnancy were astonishingly reduced by 80 per cent in those patients who had heart surgery.

Women with heart conditions have for a long time considered submitting themselves to voluntary sterilization - to avoid pregnancy, having been warned of the potential danger.

Not Warranted Dr. Ellsworth and Dr. Mortensen conclude from their study that such sterilization is not warranted until careful consideration has been given to the possibility of correcting or improving the heart function through surgery.

An additional encouraging finding indicated that when heart surgery became necessary during pregnancy, the operation could be carried out without endangering the mother or the baby.

An observation of psychological importance emerged from this detailed study of the relationship between heart disease and pregnancy.

Some of the patients who had never been pregnant had considered themselves sterile prior to heart surgery. After the heart surgery was successfully performed, pregnancy occurred.

Women who thought of themselves as "cardiac cripples" had apparently developed emotional sterility. When their fears and anxieties were removed by successful heart surgery, the emotional limitations, it seemed, disappeared.

Double Benefit

Modern-day heart surgery, combined with psychological support, has had a two-fold benefit for women with serious heart conditions who want to have children. Not only has safe and uneventful pregnancy been made possible, but these women have been returned to greater health as mothers, wives and members of the community.

SAFETY IN ANESTHESIA

The science of anesthesia, in the past decade, has made strides comparable to the great achievements in all fields of medicine and surgery.

Anesthesiology has taken its rightful place as one of the most important factors in the safety and success of all surgery. Physicians trained in this science are so skillful and dependable in their judgment that the surgeon is relieved of the additional burden of anxiety about the condition of his patient during surgery.

Safety is the keynote to the specialist's choice of anesthesia and to the administration of it.

These columns are designed to relieve your fears about health through a better understanding of your mind and body. All the hopeful new advances in medicine reported here are known to doctors everywhere.

Your individual medical problems should be handled by your own doctor. He knows you best.

Bids Sought On Area Road

FAST STROUDSBURG — The State Highways Dept. has asked for bids on Dec. 20 for reconstruction of 7.1 of a mile of highway in the Minisink Hills area between Shawnee-on-Deer and East Stroudsburg.

The highway, known as Legislative Route 45011, is in the vicinity of the Willow Dell House. The project calls for reconstruction with bituminous surface and one bridge over Moushals Creek to eliminate a narrow road and dangerous curves.

Other projects on which the department will receive bids Dec. 20 include:

Luzerne County — Anthracite Expressway, 1.94 miles separated highway with earth median, natural median where possible, and two pairs of bridges from the Dorrance-Rice Township line to southeast of Nuanogola.

It will have complete controlled access with full traffic interchanges and grade separation.

Luzerne County — Keystone Shortway, southwest of San Springs, Butler Township, thence easterly, 3.94 miles separated highway with earth divider and six bridges over Nesquehony Creek, its tributaries and over Oley Creek.

Demo Commissioners Vote GOP Nauman Tax Assessor

STROUDSBURG—Carl N. Nauman, a Republican, of Ananook, was named Monroe County's chief tax assessor Wednesday by the county commissioners.

Voting in favor of the appointment to the $5,200 a year post were commissioners John R. Lesoine and Willard L. Quirk, Democrats who were defeated in their bids for reelection to the office.

Commissioner Stanley B. Rader, a Republican, did not vote on the appointment. He had "no comment" to make on the appointment.

Fills Brands' Berth

Nauman fills the vacancy created when the commissioners fired George K. Brands on June 6, 1963.

Brands was dismissed on the grounds of insubordination to the board.

Commissioner Rader did not vote on this action either.

Following the firing of Brands the board named Mrs. Lulu Lanterman as acting chief tax assessor. She had been a deputy tax assessor for the county.

'Emergency Stopping Only' Signs Slated For Rt. 80

STROUDSBURG — The State Highway Department will begin today posting "emergency stopping only" signs along Interstate Rt. 80 from Delaware Water Gap to Scotrun.

An official at District 5 State Highway Department headquarters said State Police would enforce the ban as a necessary safety measure along the 60 mile per hour speed limit highway.

The action is being taken, the highway official said, to prevent accidents caused by cars pulling onto the highway and to stop illegal roadside deer hunting. The two-week buck deer season opens Monday.

Bond Sales Hits $74,531

STROUDSBURG — Robert Davenport, Monroe County U.S. Savings Bonds chairman, announced yesterday that during October $74,531 in savings bonds were sold in the county.

He added that during the 10 months of this year sales totaled $1,100,416 and that this is 73.72 per cent of the $1,501,800 quota for the county this year.

In Pike County, D. Z. Wade, bond sales chairman, said that $15,568 in savings bonds were sold during October. This brings the total sales in the county to $111,308 of its $136,800 quota, and pushed the county to 81.36 per cent of its quota.

Wayne County chairman, Fred B. Trumm, said that sales for October totaled $39,131. He added total sales for the year amount to $470,172 and that the quota for the year is $547,200.

With these sales the county has reached 85.92 per cent of its quota.

Dems Postpone Political Meets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee postponed for at least a month

Tuesday two meetings at which it had planned to make arrangements for next year's nominating convention.

The action was taken because of the death of President Kennedy.

Subcommittees on convention arrangements and on allocation of convention delegates had been scheduled to meet here Dec. 6, and a meeting of the full committee was set for the following day.

Bids Sought On Area Road

EAST STROUDSBURG — The State Highways Dept. has asked for bids on Dec. 20 for reconstruction of 7.1 of a mile of highway in the Minisink Hills area between Shawnee-on-Delaware and East Stroudsburg.

The highway, known as Legislative Route 45011, is in the vicinity of the Willow Dell House. The project calls for reconstruction with bituminous surface and one bridge over Marshalls Creek to eliminate a narrow road and dangerous curves.

Other projects on which the department will receive bids Dec. 20 include:

Luzerne County — Anthracite Expressway, 1.94 miles separated highway with earth median, natural median where possible, and two pairs of bridges from the Dorrance-Rice Township line to southeast of Nuangola.

Luzerne County — Keystone Shortway, southwest of San Springs, Butler Township, thence easterly, 3.94 miles separated highway with earth divider and six bridges over Nescopeck Creek, its tributaries and over Oley Creek.

Demo Commissioners Vote GOP Nauman Tax Assessor

STROUDSBURG—Carl N. Nauman, a Republican, of Anomolink, was named Monroe County's chief tax assessor Wednesday by the county commissioners.

Voting in favor of the appointment to the $5,200 a year post were commissioners John R. Lesoine and Willard L. Quick, Democrats who were defeated in their bids for reelection to the office.

Commissioner Stanley B. Rader, a Republican, did not vote on the appointment. He had "no comment" to make on the appointment.

Fills Brands' Berth

Nauman fills the vacancy created when the commissioners fired George K. Brands on June 6, 1963.

Brands was dismissed on the grounds of insubordination to the board.

Commissioner Rader did not vote on this action either.

Following the firing of Brands the board named Mrs. Lulu Lanterman as acting chief tax assessor. She had been a deputy tax assessor for the county.

'Emergency Stopping Only' Signs Slated For Rt. 80

STROUDSBURG — The State Highway Department will begin today posting "emergency stopping only" signs along Interstate Rt. 80 from Delaware Water Gap to Scotrun.

An official at District 5 State Highway Department headquarters said State Police would enforce the ban as a necessary safety measure along the 60 mile per hour speed limit highway.

The action is being taken, the highway official said to prevent accidents caused by cars pulling onto the highway and to stop illegal roadside deer hunting. The two-week buck deer season opens Monday.

Bond Sales Hits $74,531

STROUDSBURG — Robert Davenport, Monroe County U.S. Savings Bonds chairman, announced yesterday that during October $74,531 in savings bonds were sold in the county.

He added that during the 10 months of this year sales totaled $1,094,416 and that this is 73.72 per cent of the $1,504,800 quota for the county this year.

In Pike County, D. Z. Wade, bond sales chairman, said that $15,568 in savings bonds were sold during October. This brings the total sales in the county to $111,308 of its $136,800 quota, and pushed the county to 81.36 per cent of its quota.

Wayne County chairman, Fred B. Trumm, said that sales for October totaled $39,131. He added total sales for the year amount to $470,172 and that the quota for the year is $547,200. With these sales the county has reached 85.92 per cent of its quota.

Dems Postpone Political Meets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic National Committee postponed for at least a month Tuesday two meetings at which it had planned to make arrangements for next year's nominating convention.

The action was taken because of the death of President Kennedy.

Subcommittees on convention arrangements and on allocation of convention delegates had been scheduled to meet here Dec. 6, and a meeting of the full committee was set for the following day.

Shortway, Expressway Bids Opened

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania Department of Highways has opened six bids for road construction in the state.

Three bids are for work on the Keystone Shortway while the other three are for the Anthracite Expressway Construction.

The projects and unofficial low bids are as follows:

Keystone Shortway

Brodhead Construction Co. of Alliquippa, $862,954 for construction of a bridge over the Allegheny River in Butler, Venango and Clarion Counties.

The Penker Construction Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, $4,531,665 for construction of two bridges over the West Branch of the Susquehanna River in Clearfield County.

Bracker Construction Co. of Sligo, Pa., $3,097,829 for construction of 3.60 miles of dual highway in Mercer County.

Anthracite Expressway

Glasgow, Inc., of Glenside, Pa., $4,531,665, for 3.21 miles of construction in Scranton and Dunmore in Lackawanna County.

Central Penna. Quarry & Stripping & Construction Co. of Hazleton, $4,539,188 for 2.41 miles of work in Avoca, Dupont, Duryea and Moosic.

Wright Contracting Co. of Odenton, Md., $4,851,299 for 3.60 miles of highway and bridges.

Drops Charge Against Husband

EAST STROUDSBURG — A charge of disorderly conduct against Robert E. Serfass, 37, of 71 Penn St., East Stroudsburg, brought by his wife, Iva, was withdrawn at a hearing yesterday before Harold D. Larson, Sr., East Stroudsburg justice of the peace.

Serfass was arrested by East Stroudsburg police Wednesday and held in Monroe County Jail until the hearing.

Mother-In-Law Brings Charge

STROUDSBURG — Floyd Edinger, 184 Streamside Ave., East Stroudsburg, was released in $500 bail on a charge of assault and battery after a hearing before Mrs. Ruth Miller, Stroud Township justice of the peace.

The complainant in the case is Mrs. Susie Everitt, Box 286, Stroudsburg, identified as Edinger's mother-in-law.

S-burg Postmaster Offers Tips On Christmas Mailing

STROUDSBURG — Fred Rhodes, Stroudsburg postmaster, yesterday urged people in the area to take the following five steps in mailing Christmas cards and packages.

He said, "Our postoffice will be catching it from both sides — going out and coming in. I hope the residents of the county will begin their Christmas shopping and mailing tomorrow if they have not already done so."

Rhodes' five tips are:

1. Dig out last year's Christmas mailing list if you have one, or make up a list if you don't have one.
2. Check for any changes in address and make corrections wherever possible. For the new addresses of local family members and friends who have moved the telephone book is usually a good source for the person's new address.

3. Use ZIP Code numbers to speed your mail on addresses whenever possible. If it is not feasible to obtain the ZIP Code number at least include your own in the return address.

4. Settle on as many specific gift purchases now as you can, using the current ads from your newspaper, radio and television, and make a calculation of how much strong mailing material, such as tape, boxes, cord, you will need to obtain.

5. Get these mailing materials while items are in good supply locally so there will be no last-minute trips necessary to several stores to find what you want.

Other officers elected for 1964 were first vice president, Dr. Alfred D. Sumberg; second vice president, Miss Charlotte Ayers; treasurer, Miss Myrtle Angle; recording secretary, Mrs. Carolyn Kerr; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Helen Eckert; and membership secretary, Mrs. Sue Capone.

New members of the board of directors were: Harold Croasdale, Delaware Water Gap; Miss Grace Depue, Stroudsburg; Victor Capone, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Helen Fuller, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Florence Hasenfus, Mountainhome; Mrs. Louis Hopke, Mt. Pocono; J. Tyler Jackson, Mountainhome; Miss Wealthy Kortz, Stroudsburg; Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman, East Stroudsburg; Miss Margaret D. Nyce, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Madelyn H. Ruster, Stroudsburg; Mrs. Ernest Schwartz, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Thomas Saesmith, Stroudsburg; Dr. Marjorie Smith, East Stroudsburg; Mrs. Michael Sopko, Mountainhome; Howard Lininger, Stroudsburg; Mrs. David Wisk, East Stroudsburg; and Mrs. Wilson Young, Stroudsburg.

The members adopted a constitution and set of by-laws for the organization. A new schedule of dues was instituted beginning Dec. 1: $100 for life membership, $5 for voting membership, $2 for associate membership, and $1 for junior membership.

Mrs. Sue Capone, membership secretary, announced that membership had increased from 400 on July 1, 1962, to 2218 on Nov. 20, 1963.

The members heard reports on the operation of the organization. Dr. Sumberg presided.

Rooney: LBJ's Speech 'Inspiring'

WASHINGTON — Rep. Fred B. Rooney, D-Pa., said yesterday he believes Congress may be ready now "to make a supreme effort to put into action the major plans and program our great former President, John F. Kennedy, envisioned for our country.

"President Johnson has made it clear that he intends to press for a tax cut and to work for enactment of a strong, fair Civil Rights Bill immediately. He has my firm, unwavering support one both of these issues and I am hopeful the Congress will enact them speedily.

"The President's speech was a truly inspiring one. It contained a message, not only for the Congress and the people of America, but for the citizens of the entire world. We can take heart from it and I hope we may build up on his words a solid foundation of action and legislation which will continue to move this nation forward to its rightful destiny as the greatest leader the free world has ever known.

"United in Heart, Mind" "I want to express my personal gratitude to the Republican members of the House and the Senate for their announcement that they have called a moratorium on political maneuvering during these strategic and trying days.

"Once more, through their actions and through the universal sorrow we have all felt at President Kennedy's death, we have demonstrated to the world that the American people and the makers of their laws are united in heart and mind at times of great crisis and disaster."

Local Tippet Fund Drive Reaches $35

STROUDSBURG — A local campaign to aid the family of Patrolman J. D. Tippet of Dallas, Tex., shot to death by the accused assassin of President John F. Kennedy, has reached $35 and more is expected.

Stroudsburg Mayor Joseph H. Small said yesterday support of the campaign has been "quite encouraging." He said he had received one $5 check from an Allentown man, John Wesco, who indicated he would seek further contributions in that city.

The campaign was announced Monday by Small, who said contributions would be made in the name of the Stroudsburg Police Dept. Persons desiring to make contributions may address them to the J. D. Tippet Fund, Stroudsburg Municipal Building, Seventh and Sarah Sts.

GUEST PERFORMERS for the season's greetings to the community from the AAUW on Monday night will be Wendy Guthrie, Penny Marten and Hilda Smith, students at Centenary College.

AAUW To Extend Season's Greetings In Music And Dance At Open Meeting Mon.

East Stroudsburg — "Season's Greetings" will be extended to the community by the American Assn. of University Women on Monday night at 8 at the J. M. Hill School auditorium on East Broad St., East Stroudsburg.

A program of music and dance inspired by greeting cards will be featured.

In addition to the University Women and talented members of their families, guest performers will be three dancers from Centenary College at Hacketts-town, N. J. The college has a distinguished dance program under the leadership of Mrs. Linda Smiler. The three girls who will represent the college, Wendy Guthrie, Penny Marten and Hilda Smith, were recently featured in a workshop and vespers service of the Sacred Dance Guild workshop held at the Catholicism Methodist Church.

Participation by dancers from the AAUW-sponsored Contemporary Dance Workshop will be directed by Mrs. Charles Wolbers of 111 South Green St., East Stroudsburg, who will also appear as a soloist.

Mrs. Earl Willhoite of 1020 King St., Stroudsburg, will head a group of carollers including Mrs. Robert Nagle, Miss Julia Sieg, Dr. Theodore Moore, Dr. Earl Willhoite, George and Charles Wolbers, and the Peter Wyckoff's, Audrey, Peter and Mrs. David.

Mrs. David Mazer of Spring Lake, East Stroudsburg, will be pianist and will also play in a recorded duo with Judy Kasous.

The Contemporary Dance Group includes Jerilyn Cook, Barbara Fulkrod, Claire Kral, Carol Reid, and Betsy Rustenbach, students at East Stroudsburg State College, Wendy Mazer, and Mary Jane Wolbers. The Wolbers' two daughters, Marian and Vivian are also on the program, Marian dancing "The Legend of the Christmas Rose" and Vivian and her mother.

The program will be narrated by Mrs. Thomas Shanley of Stroudsburg who will introduce the singers, dancers and musicians in the framework of Christmas cards.

Mrs. William Pipher of Stroudsburg is chairman of the hostess committee for members, their guests and the general public.

ESSC Grads Welcome In addition to the program, designed as the organization's gift to the community, the meeting is also an unusual one for the club in that it marks the first meeting when membership is open to all graduates of East Stroudsburg State College.

The local branch has been interested for many years in having the local college accredited by the American Assn. of University Women. Official notification that the local college has been placed on the qualified list was received this month by Dr. LeRoy Koehler, college president, from Mrs. Blanche Dow, national president of the AAUW.

Just Between Us—

by Bobby Westbrook

One day is scarcely enough to be thankful in—thankful for shelter and food; thankful that, although the days of the extra tables in the corners for the grandchildren are gone, there is still enough family coming home to make a turkey look pretty dedicated.

Thankful for the weather that made the Battle of the Boroughs, if not one of the best played of the series, at least one of the most comfortable to the spectators. Thankful that the tradition gives you a chance to catch up on how the alumni is faring from proud grandfathers taking their small grandsons to the first football game to the college crowd back in their knickerbockers and coonskin coats, their college jackets and new hairstyles.

Thankful that during the half-time when the score was still 0-0 you could feel the bond that united the spectators, no matter what colors they wore on their pompoms, into one mood, one prayer as the combined bands presented their single tribute to the history that has been made this week.

It's a different world we face this Friday than last week, and yet the same world. The stock market rally may have been one symbol but there are thousands of others. The Christmas programs, most carefully planned of the year, are beginning with first Monday meetings and will continue to ring changes on the theme throughout the month.

The shopping days 'till Christmas are running short and the pre-occupied look is replacing the look-who's-here recognition all up and down the shopping centers. At the same time, the open house invitations are beginning to make the kitchen bulletin board as festive as a Christmas card tree.

While everybody else is debating what to wear, I have discovered that there it simplifies things and takes a lot of the tension out of the problem when you have no choice to make.

And I'm thankful for something else that facilitates it. Still the same world, they're running out of blue cards for boy babies born at the hospital. Again.

And I'm thankful for something else that facilitates it. Still the same world, they're running out of blue cards for boy babies born at the hospital. Again.

And I'm thankful for something else that facilitates it. Still the same world, they're running out of blue cards for boy babies born at the hospital. Again.

Let's talk Fashion

Why do people say "I hate to say 'I told you so' ", when they really love it. At least we love to say it when it comes to pointing to our prophecy that long dresses were the coming things for gala parties. Last Christmas there were maybe one or two brave souls who wore them. This year, even at the pre-Thanksgiving open houses there were three of four. By New Year's, they'll be it.

Anyway we're prepared to back up our prophecy with some pretty handsome samples. They range from a pink satin with ostrich feather straps to a tailored brocade with an overblouse; from rich jeweled-tone velvets to a heavy white crepe with an Empire bodice and a ruffle around the skirt guaranteed to turn you into a Gibson girl, 1964 variety.

Of course we're hedging our bets a bit for the conservative with a handsome line of dressy Kimberlees. Glittering metallic overblouses and trimmings turn the clubwomen's stand-by into a festive affair. It's going to be a social season and we've got the dresses to make you mighty sociable.

Tannersville—Local Laurel Blossom Princesses who reigned during Laurel Blossom Festival in June will return for the opening day ceremonies of Camelback-in-the-Poconos on Dec. 14.

Miss Joanne D. Vogt, of Shohola, who was East Stroudsburg State College's 1963 Laurel Blossom Princess, and Miss Adrienne Rissmiller, of Wind Gap, who represented Kutztown State College as Laurel Blossom Princess, are two of the girls who will serve as hostesses to the several hundred dignitaries and officials who will be present.

They will meet Gov. William W. Scranton who will speak at the morning ribbon cutting ceremony and be the first to use the new ski slopes. The girls will also take part in a fashion showing of the latest in resort ski-wear.

Other events on the program include the official opening of the area to the public at noon, skiing exhibitions by the ski school instructors at 2:30; the fashion show at 3:30 and a Governor's reception at 5:30.

At night, the Pocono Ski Resort Assn. will host the invited guests at a dinner and Broadway Revue to be held at Mount Airy Lodge, Mount Pocono.

The facilities at the Camelback ski area include 11 trails and slopes designed by Walter Folger, including the challenging 3,000 foot expert Rocket Trail. There is snowmaking equipment to cover 34 1/2 acres, a ski school featuring the parallel ski method with six instructors and double chair lift, T-bar, lift and J-bar lift which can handle 3.00 skiers per hour.

An Alpine-designed base lodge includes cafe, lounge areas, first aid station, and a ski fashion and equipment shop which will offer 300 rentals. The paved parking lot can accommodate 1,100 cars.

Participating in the program are 29 Pocono resorts which will offer ski weekends and ski vacations at special rates.

Jr. Girl Scouts Organize For Advancement Projects

Newfoundland—Election of officers, the choice of advancement work, and selection of badges to work toward highlighted the meeting of the Junior Girl Scout Troop under the direction of Ethel Wohlfart and Pauline Gilpin at the American Legion Home.

The Daisy Belle Patrol elected Peggy Tobey, patrol leader; Linda Gilpin, assistant; Carol Butler, game leader, and Joanne Nevin, treasurer. The Flamings named Pat Woltjen, patrol leader; Barbara Simons, assistant; Debbie Bangs, game leader, and Peggy Tobey, treasurer. The Hootenannies elected Trudy Krieger, patrol leader; Maribeth Supina, assistant, and Carol Zane, treasurer.

The whole troop decided on "The Sign of the Arrow" as their work project for the year. The first group, including Patty Woltjen, Barbara Simons, Cindy Haldaman, Diana Colan, Debbie Banks and Jane Young, will work on the second requirement.

The second group, including Trudy Krieger, Maribeth Supina, Carol Zane, Candace Price and Brenda Keiler, will work on the sixth requirement. And the third group, including Peggy Tobey, Linda Gilpin, Carol Butler, Joanne Nevin, Carol Weiland and Susan Newcomer, will work on both the second and sixth requirements.

In choosing badges to work toward, the girls who selected needlecraft were Joanne Nevin, Diana Colan and Barbara Simons; cooking, Carol Weiland and Candace Price; drawing and painting, Susan Newcomer, Carol Butler, Linda Gilpin and Peggy Tobey; pets, Trudy Krieger, Maribeth Supina, Brenda Keiler and Carol Zane; undecided, Patty Woltjen, Jane Young, Cindy Haldaman and Debbie Banks.

The girls are working on a Thanksgiving basket which they will present to their "gifts," as yet unknown.

The troop decided to present a campership to the best scout in the troop. This campership will help pay the girls' camping fees as a reward for work well done.

Patty Woltjen and Peggy Tobey received their patrol leader's cord this week. Each patrol chose a law to "live up to." Flamings, "A Girl Scout Obeys Orders," Daisy Belles, "A Girl Scout is Loyal," and Hootenannies, "A Girl Scout is Useful and Helps Others."

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

Phil Morgenstein tells you he is not an interior decorator . . . and doesn't look like one. He is a quick, alert gentleman who smiles easily and surveys the world through bright, enthusiastic eyes framed by dark-rimmed glasses. But I wish I knew as much as he does about color coordination, decorating trends, and accessorizing one's home. Beauty is his business . . . and he has introduced something new and beautiful to our Wyckoff Domestic Department in color-coordinated displays of some of the handsomest slipcover and drapery fabrics I've ever seen.

Mr. Morgenstein is a resident of Philadelphia and a representative of Winitzky and Company. Recently he spent two days in our store arranging bolts of fabrics in such a way that you and I, inexperienced as we may be, can become instant decorators and work out a decorating plan for our home that is authoritative, smart, and tasteful. The fabrics in his displays are many and varied. Some are heavy enough to be used in upholstery . . . some are less sturdy, yet all are designed for heavy duty whether they are satens, sailcloth, tweeds, or Waverly prints.

As we discussed decorating trends in my office, he told me the coppers, oranges, and tangerines, are tremendously big right now. Olive continues to be a favorite; turquoise is terrific, and the combination of green and blue, so popular the past few seasons, continues high in approval. "Of course," he said, "different areas have different tastes. In New York, purples seem to have had their day; in other parts of the country purple is just beginning to catch on—and wherever it's being used it becomes extremely popular. You can do a lot with shades of purple in a room. Natural colors are always good everywhere at any time . . . earth tones, and blues. The trouble with many homemakers is that they restrict themselves too severely. They buy the same colors year after year because they liked them once and every-one thought they looked 'nice'."

I gathered from his tone, that Mr. Morgenstein thinks no room should ever look "nice." It should be vibrant . . . or dramatic . . . or breathtakingly beautiful . . . but nice? Heaven forbid! Sometimes a woman who is delighted with a drastic changeover, once it has been achieved. This I will vouch to be true, for some years ago, when a room was just too dead and dull in blue tones, I was talked into using tones of gold and orange (colors I've always disliked) and now I wouldn't consider not having gold and orange somewhere around me—they are such joyous, spirit lifting colors.

How many types of fabric and designs can be combined in a room? I asked. Phil tells me that here again many women are too circumscribed. "They insist upon having two pieces alike—a sofa and a chair usually. They would find the effect much more pleasing if they selected a print for the sofa, and picked up two colors from that print for two chairs. There is no reason why a print, a solid and a tweed or textured fabric cannot be combined in the average room, and the result is usually far more interesting than the use of just two fabrics." He feels also, that many women are afraid to accent with brilliant touches, yet a room not underscored with a dash of color is as tasteless as soup without salt.

But why should I waste time writing about things you can see for yourself? Come into Wyckoff's and look over our decorator fabrics. Priced from 1.99 to 2.49 a yard, they are not expensive, but they are elegant. Equally top quality is the excellent fitting and workmanship of our slipcover workshop. Why not plan today to decorate for Christmas? Maybe your home will be so enchanting Santa will stay!

GUEST PERFORMERS for the season's greetings to the community from the AAUW on Monday night will be Wendy Guthrie, Penny Marten and Hilda Smith, students at Centenary College.

AAUW To Extend Season's Greetings In Music And Dance At Open Meeting Mon.

East Stroudsburg — "Season's Greetings" will be extended to the community by the American Assn. of University Women on Monday night at 8 at the J. M. Hill School auditorium on East Broad St., East Stroudsburg.

A program of music and dance inspired by greeting cards will be featured.

In addition to the University Women and talented members of their families, guest performers will be three dancers from Centenary College at Hacketts-town, N. J. The college has a distinguished dance program under the leadership of Mrs. Linda Smiler. The three girls who will represent the college, Wendy Guthrie, Penny Marten and Hilda Smith, were recently featured in a workshop and vespers service of the Sacred Dance Guild workshop held at the Canadensis Methodist Church.

Participation by dancers from the AAUW-sponsored Contemporary Dance Workshop will be directed by Mrs. Charles Wolbers of 111 South Green St., East Stroudsburg, who will also appear as a soloist.

Mrs. Earl Willhoite of 1020 King St., Stroudsburg, will head a group of carollers including Mrs. Robert Nagle, Miss Julia Sieg, Dr. Theodore Moore, Dr. Earl Willhoite, George and Charles Wolbers, and the Peter Wyckoff's, Audrey, Peter and son, David.

Mrs. David Mazer of Spring Lake, East Stroudsburg, will be pianist and will also play in a recorded duo with Judy Kasous.

The Contemporary Dance Group includes Jerilyn Cook, Barbara Fulkrod, Claire Kral, Carol Reid, and Betsy Rustenbach. State College, Wendy Mazer, and Mary Jane Wolbers. The Wolbers' two daughters, Marian and Vivian are also on the program, Marian dancing "The Legend of the Christmas Rose" and Vivian and her mother.

The program will be narrated by Mrs. Thomas Shanley of Stroudsburg who will introduce the singers, dancers and musicians in the framework of Christmas cards.

Mrs. William Pipher of Stroudsburg is chairman of the hostess committee for members, their guests and the general public.

ESSC Grads Welcome
In addition to the program, designed as the organization's gift to the community, the meeting is also an unusual one for the club in that it marks the first meeting when membership is open to all graduates of East Stroudsburg State College.

The local branch has been interested for many years in having the local college accredited by the American Assn. of University Women. Official notification that the local college has been placed on the qualified list was received this month by Dr. LeRoy Koehler, college president, from Mrs. Blanche Dow, national president of the AAUW.

are thousands of others. The Christmas programs, most carefully planned of the year, are beginning with first Monday meetings and will continue to ring changes on the theme throughout the month.

The shopping days 'till Christmas are running short and the pre-occupied look is replacing the look-of-where recognition all up and down the shopping center. At the same time, the open house invitations are beginning to make the kitchen bulletin board as festive as a Christmas card tree.

While everybody else is debating what to wear, I have discovered that there it simplifies things and takes a lot of the tension out of the problem when you have no choice to make.

And I'm thankful for something else that indicates it's still the same world—they're running out of blue cards for baby blues born at the hospital. Again.

Just Between Us—

by Bobby Westbrook

One day is scarcely enough to be thankful in—thankful for shelter and food; thankful that, although the days of the extra tables in the corners for the grandchildren are gone, there is still enough family coming home to make a turkey look pretty desiccated.

Thankful for the weather that made the Battle of the Boroughs, if not one of the best played of the series, at least one of the most comfortable on the spectators. Thankful that the tradition gives you a chance to catch up on how the alumni is faring from proud grandfathers taking their small grandsons to the first football game to the college crowd back in their knickerbockers and sunskin coats, their college jackets and new hairstyles.

Thankful that during the half-line when the score was still 0-0, you could feel the bond that united the spectators, no matter what colors they wore on their pompons, into one mood—one prayer as the combined bands presented their single tribute to the history that has been made this week.

It's a different world we face this Friday than last week, and yet the same world. The stock market rally may have been one symbol but there

Let's talk Fashion

Why do people say "I hate to say 'I told you so—'", when they really love it. At least we love to say it when it comes to pointing to our prophecy that long dresses were the coming things for gala parties. Last Christmas there were maybe one or two brave souls who wore them. This year, even at the pre-Thanksgiving open houses there were three of four. By New Year's, they'll be it.

Anyway we're prepared to back up our prophecy with some pretty handsome samples. They range from a pink satin with ostrich feather straps to a tailored brocade with an overblouse; from rich jeweled-tone velvets to a heavy white crepe with an Empire bodice and a ruffle around the skirt guaranteed to turn you into a Gibson girl, 1964 variety.

Of course we're hedging our bets a bit for the conservative with a handsome line of dressy Kimberlees. Glittering metallic overblouses and trimmings turn the clubwomen's stand-by into a festive affair. It's going to be a social season and we've got the dresses to make you mighty sociable

Letters, Poems Of Record Readers Mourn Kennedy Death

Editor, The Daily Record:

I would like to express my feelings on the death of President Kennedy and what it meant to me.

Although I did not know the late President personally I felt that I had known him a long time and his death was like losing one's son or father.

He was the kind of man I would have liked to have been like but I know I couldn't.

Surely when God formed the mold which made this great man he must have thrown the mold away.

I felt that I could identify easily with him and admired his tremendous courage.

No matter what problems I had I would think of how he would act if he were in my shoes and tried to act accordingly.

Live His Ideals
What can one say or do to keep the image of this great man alive? I don't think that we can ever do enough to repay him for what he has done for us.

Perhaps we here in Monroe County can lead the kind of life that he expected us to live.

Perhaps it will be to support his ideas and goals which he fought so hard for, ideas which would bring the most happiness to all the people.

He gave us some of these ideas and goals on his recent visit to Milford. He felt that benefits from such ideas as Project 70 and the Toek's Island Dam were in accord with the pursuit of happiness.

He felt that he had to express himself on what would benefit the most people not just the handful.

I hope the day will not be long before these benefits will be realized.

Kennedy Dam Name
I am sending a letter to Representative Fred B. Rooney suggesting that we name the Toek's Island Dam the Kennedy

Dam in honor of the great beloved president.

I hope that your paper will lead the way in bringing this about and gain the support of the community. The power of the press can be and will be heard.

The late President's assassination has done more to focus attention on the hate mongers, the suspicious, the greedy and the self-centered who exist not only in Dallas, Texas, but also here in Monroe County also.

Every time you read one of these crackpot letters you wonder if something hasn't gone wrong with their mental capacities.

Although they profess love for their fellow men they act in narrow-minded ways. Their actions are there to see, I believe the Bible states that men shall be judged by their actions and deeds.

Life Not the Same
Life goes on but it can never be the same anymore. A piece of all of us went to the grave with President Kennedy.

I hope that someday we can all get to heaven to shake his hand and look into his eyes and say "Mr. President, we tried to do what you asked of us."

We must go on now and continue with the living of history. The late President would have wanted it so. He is not dead for he lives on in our hearts and minds as does Abraham Lincoln and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Let's get on with the business at hand and get this country moving again as he asked us to do.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

A Martyr For America

Editor, The Daily Record:
A nation grieves for a man to night.

A martyr lies in state.
Bronze coffin in his resting place.

Cruel end for one so great.
Fearless, courageous, dauntless and true.

To convictions and duties alike.
Shot down while on tour in Dallas today.

And now he is sleeping to night.
Mourn not for a soul who is resting in peace.

But feel sad for those who are left.
His family and friends need it more now.

Because they are the ones bereft.
Flags at half staff the nation over.

Proclaim our bereavement and loss.
In history his name will keep him alive.

And his courageous deeds will be taught.
The Nation prays for the President tonight.

A nation that is troubled and warlike.
But our prayers should be for the President now.

Let's pray now for President Johnson.
LILLIAN MORRIS.

Employe Thanks Ronson Corp. For Time Off

Editor, The Daily Record:
The following letter was sent to Gerald Brodsky, plant manager at Ronson Corp. in Delaware Water Gap thanking the company for letting employees go home Friday after Kennedy's death and giving them a full day off Monday during Kennedy's funeral.

Mr. Gerald Brodsky:

Memorial To Kennedy

Who was the man who died for you and for me
This was the great John Kennedy.

Who was the man who wanted all to be free
This was the great John Kennedy.

He was full of vigor and full of joy
And showed his love to each girl each boy.

He traveled and spoke with many a far place
And tried so to solve the problem that each had faced.

He liked to greet and shake hands with each one
And would never let up until his job was well done.

And now as time goes on and the years add to many We'll never forget the great President John Kennedy.

Kennedy Gave His Life For Country

Editor, The Daily Record:
In the years that have passed, I have read about and met many brave men and heard of their brave deeds.

When it comes to honor, the greatest virtue that a man can have, no one kind of man is any better than any other.

The men who are the bravest of the brave have one thing in common. They are willing to put their duty to their country and friends above their love of

But I'll stand by my statement that par value of common stock means little or nothing, in relation to market value.

Your letter came under the letterhead of your company. We won't embarrass you by naming the company. But a quick check of the records shows that the market value of the company's common stock is way, way above par value.

But this thing can be overdone. Suppose I bought six shares of stock in that company — one for each member of our immediate family. If the company sent us six of those packages you mention, you just might feel that the company was wasting your money.

Q. You wrote that "par value of common stock means little or nothing." As the secretary - treasurer of a company, I can tell you that the par value of our common stock certainly means a great deal. Why do you make such a statement?

A. Because it's true. The previous column on this subject very clearly stated that par value of common stock " seldom has any relationship to the market price — the price you would get if you sell the stock."

That column also explained that par value of common stock is strictly a bookkeeping device. It seems quite clear that you are basically a bookkeeper.

Granted that bookkeeping is most important and that par value can be an important bookkeeping tool.

Stockholder Relations

Q. You have, from time to time, carried letters in your column from readers commenting on what companies do or do not do to promote their products. May I tell you of my recent experience, after buying just a few shares of stock?

Within a week and a half I received a package from the company. It contained a number of the company's products — puddings, cake mixes, etc. The retail price of all the things I received was about $2.75. The postage came to $1.80. What do you think of this?

A. It's what you think that counts — at least as far as the management of that company is concerned. That was the motive behind the company's rather unusual "welcome to the stockholder family" pitch.

If you're happy, then the company's attempt at spreading joyous stockholder relations was successful. But, if you feel that the company of which you (as a stockholder) are a part owner spends too much money on you and on every other new stockholder, then the whole effort was a flop.

This is one of those things that can be argued forever.

Certainly, a company should make an effort to make its stockholders aware of the company's products. A company's to buy (and sing the praises of) the products of "their company." And it's good for a company to welcome new stockholders.

But this thing can be overdone. Suppose I bought six shares of stock in that company — one for each member of our immediate family. If the company sent us six of those packages you mention, you just might feel that the company was wasting your money.

Letters, Poems Of Record Readers Mourn Kennedy Death

Editor, The Daily Record:

I would like to express my feelings on the death of President Kennedy and what it meant to me.

Although I did not know the late President personally I felt that I had known him a long time and his death was like losing one's son or father.

He was the kind of man I would have liked to have been like but I couldn't.

Surely when God formed the mold which made this great man he must have thrown the mold away.

I felt that I could identify easily with him and admired his tremendous courage.

No matter what problems I had I would think of how he would act if he were in my shoes and tried to act accordingly.

Live His Ideals

What can one say or do to keep the image of this great man alive? I don't think that we can ever do enough to repay him for what he has done for us.

Perhaps we here in Monroe County can lead the kind of life that he expected us to live.

Perhaps it will be to support his ideas and goals which he fought so hard for, ideas which would bring the most happiness to all the people.

He gave us some of these ideas and goals on his recent visit to Milford. He felt that benefits from such ideas as Project 70 and the Tocks Island Dam were in accord with the pursuit of happiness.

He felt that he had to express himself on what would benefit the most people not just the handful.

I hope the day will not be long before these benefits will be realized.

Kennedy Dam Name

I am sending a letter to Representative Fred B. Rooney suggesting that we name the Tocks Island Dam the Kennedy

Dam in honor of the great beloved president.

I hope that your paper will lead the way in bringing this about and gain the support of the community. The power of the press can be and will be heard.

The late President's assassination has done more to focus attention on the hate mongers, the suspicious, the greedy and the self-centered who exist not only in Dallas, Texas, but also here in Monroe County also.

Every time you read one of these crackpot letters you wonder if something hasn't gone wrong with their mental capacities.

Although they profess love for their fellow men they act in narrow-minded ways. Their actions are there to see. I believe the Bible states that men shall be judged by their actions and deeds.

Life Not the Same

Life goes on but it can never be the same anymore. A piece of all of us went to the grave with President Kennedy.

I hope that someday we can all get to heaven to shake his hand and look into his eyes and say "Mr. President, we tried to do what you asked of us."

We must go on now and continue with the living of history. The late President would have wanted it so. He is not dead for he lives on in our hearts and minds as does Abraham Lincoln and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Let's get on with the business at hand and get this country moving again as he asked us to do.

"Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

Editor, The Daily Record:

A nation grieves for a man to-night.

A martyr lies in state. Bronze coffin in his resting place.

Cruel end for one so great. Fearless, courageous, dauntless and true.

To convictions and duties alike. Shot down while on tour in Dallas today.

And now he is sleeping to-night. Mourn not for a soul who is resting in peace.

But feel sad for those who are left. His family and friends need it more now.

Because they are the ones bereft. Flags at half staff the nation over.

Proclaim our bereavement and loss. In history his name will keep him alive.

And his courageous deeds will be taught. The Nation prays for the President tonight.

A nation that is troubled and warsome. But our prayers should be for the President now.

Let's pray now for President Johnson.

Stulgaitis Resigns -- Mountaineers Trim E-burg For Him, 6-0!

SPINNING AND SPINNING off one tackler after another, East Stroudsburg's Mike Ajayin (13) maintains footing en route to a 22-yard pickup after he was hit by at least four Stroud Union tacklers in second period. Ajayin played one of his finest games in a losing

GOING DOWN!—Stroud Union's Bill Howard (22) is on his way down as host of East Stroudsburg defenders converge upon him during yesterday's "Battle of the Boros" at Gordon Giffels Field. The Mountaineers gain a 6-0 triumph which brought back the Little

ALL SMILES NOW—The game has just ended and both coach Jack Kist (left) of East Stroudsburg High School and coach Jerry Stulgaitis of Stroud Union flash smiles following annual interboro clash at Gordon Giffels Field. The wider smile belongs to Stulgaitis, the winning coach who had announced his resignation to his players shortly before game time. Both men are closest of friends off the field; fiercest competitors on the field. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

By KEN O'BRIEN
Daily Record Sports Editor

STROUDSBURG For the first time in six years the Little Brown Jug returned to Stroud Union High School — and the Mountaineers turned in the 6-0 performance over East Stroudsburg for their coach, Jerry Stulgaitis, who announced his resignation to the players five minutes before game time in the dressing room.

"There are 10 seniors who will be playing their last game today . . . there are 11 players who are playing their last game. I'm the 11th?"

Thus, with those words did Stulgaitis formally bow out for the second time as coach of the Mountaineers.

And Jerry bowed out a winner.

"Thank you, coaches," scribbled a Stroudsburg player on the dressing room blackboard immediately following the game.

"Thank you, players," Stulgaitis scribbled beneath the first message. It was the first thing he did after entering the room.

Transue Hero

Neli Transue was the hero of the battle, scoring the game's only touchdown in the final period after intercepting a pass by East Stroudsburg quarterback Doug Hilyard and racing 54 yards for the TD with only 4:11 remaining in the annual Thanksgiving Day battle between the boros.

An overflow crowd of 4,000 witnessed a rugged and tense defensive struggle between the two teams for better than three periods of action.

The Cavaliers of coach Jack Kist staged a tremendous goal line stand against the charging Maroon and White early in the first quarter.

Stroud Union, taking possession for the first time after Eastburg had advanced to the Stroudsburg 49 on a fourth-and-two situation, traveled from the Cavalier 47 down to the 3 where the drive was halted.

The Mountaineers had picked up three first downs, advancing the ball to the Eastburg 8 before the Cavalier defense finally stiffened.

From that point, Freddy Frantz and Bill Howard alternated in hitting the line, but in four plays picked up but five yards as East Stroudsburg took possession on its own 3.

Both teams stayed almost entirely on the ground — a surprising fact since the Cavaliers had been expected to take to the air much more frequently. But Eastburg was moving the ball well enough on the ground to stay with its rushing attack. The same was true of Stroud Union.

Stroud Union's penetration to the Eastburg 3 was the only serious scoring threat of the first half.

Punting Struggle

The third period was merely a punting struggle. Both teams were forced to punt as neither club was able to generate any type of sustained drive.

Then, the Cavaliers got a scoring march underway near the midway point of the final session — and a bomb suddenly exploded in their faces.

Strutting from their own 11, the Cavaliers' Jim Getz paved the way on four consecutive carries to the Eastburg 43. Mike Ajayin, playing his finest game of the season, took a pitchout for three yards to the 45.

It was at that point that Hilyard faded back to pass and Transue plucked off the aerial on his own 46 and raced down the right side for the only touchdown. Transue's plunge for the extra point failed.

Intercepts Again

But that was all the scoring the Mountaineers needed. Late in the game, Frantz intercepted another pass by Hilyard on his own 35 and returned to the Stroud Union 40. Transue, on two straight snatches through the line, picked up a first down on the Eastburg 47.

Bill Howard then cracked the line for three more yards and Frantz then scampered around right end for what seemed like another touchdown. But an official ruled he ran out of bounds on the Cavalier 20 as only seconds remained in the game.

Frantz carried for four yards on the next — and final — play of the game.

The victory for Stroud Union snapped a three-game winning streak by its inter-boro rivals. But the Little Brown Jug had remained in East Stroudsburg for six years via a 6-6 tie in 1959.

Illini Gains Rose Bowl Bid; 'Lukewarm' Longhorns Win

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports-Writer
Illinois whipped Michigan State 13-0 Thursday and nailed its first Rose Bowl assignment in 13 years, but Texas' lukewarm Longhorns, top-ranked and Cotton Bowl bound, had to battle into the closing minutes before subduing stubborn Texas A&M 15-13 for their first all-winning season since 1920.

North Carolina, meanwhile, became the fifth major college bowl bid after tying for the Atlantic Coast Conference crown with a 16-14 victory over Duke on a 42-yard field goal by Max Chapman with 33 seconds remaining.

Joins Others

The Tar Heels join Illinois, Texas, Nebraska and LSU in the line-up for post-season classic, Nebraska gained an Orange Bowl assignment last Saturday and LSU accepted a Bluebonnet bowl offer Tuesday.

Four conference titles were decided during the day's activities. With Illinois' victory went the Big Ten title, and Texas gained Southwest Conference laurels with its triumph. Virginia Tech wrapped up the Southern championship by defeating VMI 35-20 and North Carolina finished in a tie with North Carolina State for the ACC crown.

In a key clash that may have howl overtime, Syracuse defeated Notre Dame 14-7 on a 35-yard touchdown pass from Rich Kling to Mike Koski in the final four minutes. The Orange are among a long list of teams mentioned prominently as bowl possibilities.

There were eight other games—a total of 13 in all—on a hectic Thanksgiving Day program. Many games had been postponed from last week because of the death of President Kennedy.

Staubach Heads All-East Backfield

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Staubach, Navy's Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback, heads the 1963 All-East football backfield which has accounted for 344 points and 4,719 yards.

The Associated Press team also includes backs Gary Wood of Cornell, Paul Marth of Pitt, Mike Brown of Delaware and Princeton's Cosmo Iacavazzi.

The five-man backfield was forced when the regional selection board, composed of sports writers and broadcasters, could not break an impasse.

On A Cruise

Staubach is currently on a record-shattering cruise through all opposition and the Naval Academy statistics. With the traditional service battle with Army yet to come, the 6-foot-2, 190-pound junior from Cincinnati has piled up 1,738 yards in total offense while piloting the second-ranked Midshipmen to an 8-1 record.

Jolly Roger has the nation's best passing percentage mark, 67.3, while running and throwing for 92 points.

"Wood may well be the best running back in the area this year," said one board member. The quarterback, who also has played halfback, thrives on work and the option run. His total offense figures add up to 1,171 yards but these don't show that he was responsible for the Big Red pulling out three Ivy League thrillers with a combined total of 84 seconds left to play.

Called by some Pitt men the school's best running back since Marshall Goldberg, Marth does a mean job blocking and

Scores 78 Points

Iacavazzi, the nation's leading major college scorer with the Saturday game against Dartmouth remaining, has 78 points. The Princeton fullback and honor student in aeronautical engineering has rushed 591 yards in a single wing offense where the tailback normally does the heavy work.

Brown, an amazing performer for Coach Dave Nelson's Delaware team, combined knee-down and run-by-ten styles into 838 rushing yards in eight games. He also has scored 78 points.

Navy placed three men on the second team — tackle Jim Freeman, guard Fred Marlin and halfback John Sni. Fullback Rick Leeson and end Al Grigallunas represent Pitt. The remainder of the team is composed of Dartmouth end Scott Creelman, Villanova tackle Al Atkinson, Boston University guard Bill Budness, Syracuse end Ed Conti, plus backs Jack Concannon of Boston College and Archie Roberts of Columbia.

Object Heaved Into Newsroom

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—A ball bearing, about an inch in diameter, was thrown through a second-floor window of the Wilkes-Barre Publishing Co. Thursday night.

The object landed in the newsroom where editorial personnel were preparing Friday morning's edition of the Wilkes-Barre Record.

Texas A&M Integrates!

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M University has integrated athletics, the Board of Directors announced Thursday.

It was the fourth Southwest Conference school to accept Negroes in sports. "The Board of Directors has heretofore integrated the schools in the Texas A&M University system and interposes no restrictions on participation of qualified students in any approved activity," the statement said.

The board met Wednesday and reached its decision then.

Texas A&M has had Negro undergraduates since June, 1963, although there are only four Negro students — one in each of the reference in the statement to "heretofore integrated" was to the fact that the Negroes already were students, but they were not given the privilege of participating in sports, but they were not given the privilege of participating in athletics at the time of their enrollment.

Wins Marathon

BERWICK, Pa. (AP)—Frank Pflieger of Baltimore won the 54th annual Berwick Marathon Thursday, covering the nine-mile course in 46 minutes and 50 seconds.

Ten seconds behind Pflieger came George Fouts of Pittsburgh. Then came Richard Franpon of Baltimore, William Lawson of William and Mary, Dick Lammpan of the Nitany, Lions and Steve Genty of State College, the first high school finisher among the first 20 or so.

In a five-mile race for high school boys, Gil Hartman of Williamsport sliced more than a minute off the old record, covering the distance in 21:15.

The New York Mets came close to winning their first baseball series but Cincinnati's Reds topped them, 10 games to 8.

Stulgaitis Resigns -- Mountaineers Trim E-burg For Him, 6-0!

SPINNING AND SPINNING off one tackler after another, East Stroudsburg's Mike Ajygin (13) maintains footing en route to a 22-yard pickup after he was hit by at least four Stroud Union tacklers in second period. Ajygin played one of his finest games in a losing

GOING DOWN!—Stroud Union's Bill Howard (22) is on his way down as host of East Stroudsburg defenders converge upon him during yesterday's "Battle of the Boros" at Gordon Giffels Field. The Mountaineers gain a 6-0 triumph which brought back the Little

ALL SMILES NOW—The game has just ended and both coach Jack Kist (left) of East Stroudsburg High School and coach Jerry Stulgaitis of Stroud Union flash smiles following annual interboro clash at Gordon Giffels Field. The wider smile belongs to Stulgaitis, the winning coach who had announced his resignation to his players shortly before game time. Both men are closest of friends off the field; fiercest competitors on the field. (Staff Photo by MacLeod)

By KEN O'BRIEN
Daily Record Sports Editor
STROUDSBURG — For the first time in six years the Little Brown Jug returned to Stroud Union High School — and the Mountaineers turned in the 6-0 performance over East Stroudsburg for their coach, Jerry Stulgaitis, who announced his resignation to the players five minutes before game time in the dressing room.

"There are 10 seniors who will be playing their last game today... there are 11 players who are playing their last game. I'm the 11th!"

Thus, with those words did Stulgaitis formally bow out for the second time as coach of the Mountaineers.

"Thank you, coaches," scribbled a Stroudsburg player on the dressing room blackboard immediately following the game.

"Thank you, players," Stulgaitis crawled beneath the first message. It was the first thing he did after entering the room.

Transue Hero

Nel Transue was the hero of the battle, scoring the game's only touchdown in the final period after intercepting a pass by East Stroudsburg quarterback Doug Hilyard and racing 54 yards for the TD with only 4:11 remaining in the annual Thanksgiving Day battle between the boros.

An overflow crowd of 4,000 witnessed a rugged and tense defensive struggle between the two teams for better than three periods of action.

The Cavaliers of coach Jack Kist staged a tremendous goal line stand against the charging Maroon and White early in the first quarter.

Stroud Union, taking possession for the first time after Eastburg had advanced to the Stroudsburg 49 on a fourth-and-two situation, traveled from the Cavalier 47 down to the 3 where the drive was halted.

The Mountaineers had picked up three first downs, advancing the ball to the Eastburg 8 before the Cavalier defense finally stiffened.

From that point, Freddy Frantz and Bill Howard alternated in hitting the line, but in four plays picked up but five yards as East Stroudsburg took possession on its own 3.

Both teams stayed almost entirely on the ground — a surprising fact since the Cavaliers had been expected to take to the air much more frequently. But Eastburg was moving the ball well enough on the ground to stay with its rushing attack. The same was true of Stroud Union.

Stroud Union's penetration to the Eastburg 3 was the only serious scoring threat of the first half.

Punting Struggle

The third period was merely a punting struggle. Both teams were forced to punt as neither club was able to generate any type of sustained drive.

Then, the Cavaliers got a scoring march underway near the midway point of the final session — and a bomb suddenly exploded in their faces.

Starting from their own 11, the Cavaliers' Jim Getz paved the way on four consecutive carries to the Eastburg 43. Mike Ajygin, playing his finest ballgame of the season, took a pitchout for three yards to the 45.

It was at that point that Hilyard faded back to pass and Transue plucked off the aerial on his own 46 and raced down the right side for the only touchdown. Transue's plunge for the extra point failed.

Intercepts Again

But that was all the scoring the Mountaineers needed. Late in the game, Frantz intercepted another pass by Hilyard on his own 35 and returned to the Stroud Union 40. Transue, on two straight smashes through the line, picked up a first down on the Eastburg 47.

Bill Howard then cracked the line for three more yards and Frantz then scampered around right end for what seemed like another touchdown. But an official ruled he ran out of bounds on the Cavalier 20 as only seconds remained in the game.

Frantz carried for four yards on the next — and final — play of the game.

The victory for Stroud Union snapped a three-game winning streak by its inter-boro rivals. But the Little Brown Jug had remained in East Stroudsburg for six years via a 6-6 tie in 1959.

Illini Gains Rose Bowl Bid; 'Lukewarm' Longhorns Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports-Writer
ILLINOIS whipped Michigan State 13-0 Thursday and nailed its first Rose Bowl assignment in 13 years, but Texas' lukewarm Longhorns, top-ranked and Cotton Bowl bound, had to battle into the closing minutes before subduing stubborn Texas A&M 15-13 for their first all-winning season since 1920.

North Carolina, meanwhile, became the fifth major college Bowl bid after tying for the Atlantic Coast Conference crown with a 16-14 victory over Duke on a 42-yard field goal by Max Chapman with 33 seconds remaining.

Joins Others

The Tar Heels join Illinois, Texas, Nebraska and LSU in the line-up for post-season classic. Nebraska gained an Orange Bowl assignment last Saturday and LSU accepted a Bluebonnet bowl offer Tuesday.

Four conference titles were decided during the day's activities. With Illinois' victory went the Big Ten title, and Texas gained Southwest Conference Laurels as its triumph. Virginia Tech wrapped up the Southern championship by defeating VMI 35-20 and North Carolina finished in a tie with A&M 15-13 for their first all-winning season since 1920.

In a key clash that may have bowl overtones, Syracuse defeated Notre Dame 14-7 on a 35-yard touchdown pass from Rich King to Mike Koski in the final four minutes. The Orange are among a long list of teams mentioned prominently as bowl possibilities.

There were eight other games — a total of 13 in all — on a beefy Thanksgiving Day program. Many games had been postponed from last week because of the death of President Kennedy.

In others, Minnesota blanked Wisconsin 14-0, West Virginia walloped Furman 38-7, Columbia outlasted Furman 35-28, William & Mary downed Richmond 29-6, Cornell beat Penn 17-8, Maryland defeated Virginia 21-6, Clemson edged South Carolina 24-20 and Miami of Ohio nipped Cincinnati 21-19.

Pull It Out

The big one was at College Station, Tex., where the Aggies of Texas A&M throttled mighty Texas for three periods before the Longhorns finally pulled it out.

Stocking-footed kicker Tony Crosby gave Texas a 3-0 lead with a 27-yard field goal in the first period but A&M pulled ahead 13-3 on 34 and 29 touchdowns passes by Jim Keller.

Tommy Ford's two-yard touchdown run closed the gap before the Longhorns started on a winning 80-yard drive interrupted by an intercepted pass and fumble recovery. Tommy Wade passed for 61 yards in the drive, capped by Duke Carlisle's one-yard plunge with 1:19 left.

At East Lansing, Mich., Dick Butkus and a defensive shift were the key reasons for Illinois' upset of Michigan State. Butkus and Don Hansen shifted linebacking positions in a stunting maneuver that proved extremely effective against breakaway runner Schem Lewis, held to 58 yards in 13 carries.

First Score

A Lewis fumble, pounced on by Jim Warren on the 26, led to Illinois' first score, a 22-yard field goal by Jim Plankhorn in the first period. A 34-yard field goal by Plankhorn in the second quarter and Jim Grabowski's 14-yard run in the third period wrapped up the scoring.

Duke moved ahead 14-13 on Jay Wilkinson's 24-yard scamper and Steve Holloway's placement with 1:23 to go. But North Carolina rolled back behind Junior Edge's passing, from their 28 to Duke's 25, and Chapman sent a 42-yarder through the uprights.

Bob Schweickert, playing safety for the first time this season, returned a punt 82 yards for a touchdown in the third period, clinching Virginia Tech's victory over VMI.

Staubach Heads All-East Backfield

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger Staubach, Navy's Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback, heads the 1963 All-East football backfield which has accounted for 344 points and 4,719 yards.

The Associated Press team also includes backs Gary Wood of Cornell, Paul Martha of Pitt, Mike Brown of Delaware and Princeton's Cosmo Iacavazzi.

The five-man backfield was forced when the regional selection board, composed of sports writers and broadcasters, could not break an impasse.

In the line, rugged Ernie Borghetti of Pitt and Gerry Philbin of Buffalo are the tackles, with Army's Dick Nowak and Penn State's Glenn Kessler at guard. Jim Whalen of Boston College and John Parry of Brown are the ends, and Jon Morris of Holy Cross the center.

Staubach is currently on a record-shattering cruise through all opposition and the Naval Academy statistics. With the traditional service battle with Army yet to come, the 6-foot-2, 190-pound junior from Cincinnati has piled up 1,738 yards in total offense while piloting the second-ranked Mid-dies to an 8-1 record.

Jolly Roger has the nation's best passing percentage mark, 67.3, while running and throwing for 92 points.

"Wood may well be the best running back in the area this year," said one board member. The quarterback, who also has played halfback, thrives on work and the option run. His total offense figures add up to 1,171 yards but these don't show that he was responsible for the Big Red pulling out three Ivy League thrillers with a combined total of 84 seconds left to play.

Called by some Pitt men the school's best running back since Marshall Goldberg, Martha does a mean job blocking and

PCMS Loses Opener

CRESO — Pocono Catholic Missions School opened the area's basketball season Wednesday night by entering its own first game ever against St. Mary's of Wilkes-Barre on a rather sour note.

PCMS went down to a 70-38 defeat in its first venture of athletic competition.

Only Pocono Catholic's Joe Dougherty was able to break into double figures, notching 13 points on five field goals and three free throws.

Visiting St. Mary's, on the other hand had Bob Mulhern and Jim Brady pacing the attack with 15 points apiece. Jimmy Lynch also hit double figures with 11 points.

Both Mulhern and Brady gained high-game scoring honors with six field goals and three others from the foul line. Lynch hit four from the floor with three free throws.

St. Mary's led all the way, taking a 19-8 lead at the end of the first period and upping the count to 36-15 at halftime. The visitors outscored Pocono Catholic in the third stanza by 22-6 before the losers finally started to connect in the final quarter for 17 points while holding St. Mary's to 12.

Pocono Catholic hit on only six of 26 tries from the foul line, while St. Mary's connected on 14 of 26.

Texas A&M Integrates!

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Texas A&M University has integrated athletics, the Board of Directors announced Thursday.

It was the fourth Southwest Conference school to accept Negroes in sports.

"The Board of Directors has heretofore integrated the schools in the Texas A&M University system and interposes no restrictions on participation of qualified students in any approved activity," the statement said.

The board met Wednesday and reached its decision then.

Texas A&M has had Negro undergraduates since June, 1963, although there are only four Negro students — one co-ed. The reference in the statement to "heretofore integrated" was to the fact that the Negroes already were students, but they were not given the privilege of participating in sports, but they were not given the privilege of participating in athletics at the time of their enrollment.

Pen Argyl Wallops Bangor, 40-19; Gains Share Of L-N Championship

PEN ARGYL — "The General" was never better and the Green Knights were never mightier yesterday as Pen Argyl overwhelmed Bangor, 40-19, before an overflow crowd here.

Jim Rodney, the speedy and hard-charging fullback, has been called "The General" by his followers this season and he indeed led the attack which gave the lads of coach Elwood Petchel the co-championship of the Lehigh-Northampton League.

The victory also provided the Knights with an undefeated season (8-0-2) and gave them an edge in the ancient series which dates back to 1922 with 21 wins, 19 losses, and three ties. The series had been tied before yesterday at 20-19-3.

Adding to the laurels of the Green Knights was the fact that the 40 points is the highest ever scored by one team in this rivalry. Twice before the Green Knights had tallied 39 points — the previous high by any team — in 1922 and again in 1927. Both times the Slayers of Bangor were shut out.

Most Points
The game also provided another new mark for this series — the most points ever scored in one game by the two teams.

Although Rodney — the sparkplug of the Pen Argyl grid juggernaut — was by far the outstanding player in the game, Petchel said amidst congratulations following the contest: "This was a team effort all the way." Not taking anything away from any of the other players, Rodney was superb by carrying the ball 23 times, picking up 201 yards for an average of 8.8 yards per carry.

You simply cannot ask any more of a player than a performance of that sort.

Pen Argyl scored the first three times it got its hands on leather and almost immediately erased any doubts about the eventual outcome of the game from the very start. The Knights were The Master from the very start.

Glenn Huffsmitth and LeRoy Amy combined with Rodney at the start when the Knights first gained possession to move the ball for four consecutive downs from their own 33 to the Bangor 14.

First Score

But it was Rodney who picked up all first downs for the Knights on carries of 3, 29 and 10 yards. He finally carried across for the first score of the game on a run around left end from six yards out then ran for the extra point.

Huffsmitth recovered a Bangor fumble on the Pen Argyl 35 and it took but two plays from scrimmage for the Knights to strike again. This time, it was Rodney again who went on a 64-yard journey into paydirt for a 13-0 lead.

Bangor valiantly battled back to launch a scoring march of its own, traveling 64 yards in 11 plays. Bill Yeager climaxed the drive, plunging over from the 1 to narrow the gap to 13-6 as the PAT failed.

But the Knights came right back to launch their third score of the day as the game quickly took on the appearance of a toe-to-toe slugfest between a pair of heavyweights in the ring.

TD Pass

This time the Knights covered 63 yards in eight plays with Bruce Hewett connecting on a pass to George Wootley for 29 yards and the TD. Amy slammed across through the line for the conversion point and a 20-6 lead.

That's the way it stood until halftime, but after the intermission the Knights started again. Rodney tallied his third touchdown of the day, slanting off tackle for five yards and Huffsmitth plunged for the extra point for a 27-6 bulge, putting the game out of reach.

Pen Argyl tallied again early in the fourth period as Amy cracked the line from the 1 to cap a 67-yard drive, upping the margin to 33-6.

Only moments later, the Knights had another TD. Bangor took the following kickoff and on the first play Terry Young intercepted a pass and returned 25 yards for the shocker. Hewett ran for the PAT and a 40-6 margin.

With substitutes streaming into the game from both sides, Bangor rebounded with a pair of tallies of their own in the final session as Barry Holland hauled in a short pass from Jimmy Dietz for one, and Sam Brown taking another Dietz aerial for the final score of the day.

Pocono Mountain Trims Pleasant Valley, 26 To 14

BROOKHAVEN — The Old Oaken Bucket remained in possession of Pocono Mountain High School yesterday as the Cardinals of coach Wayne Boyd staged a come-from-behind 26-14 victory over the Pleasant Valley Bears.

A crowd of 1,000 watched Pleasant Valley fumble the game away in the latter stages of the contest as the Cards took advantage of the opportunities to tally three touchdowns in the second half while holding the Bears scoreless.

Pleasant Valley had taken a 14-6 halftime lead and still led by 14-13 entering the final session.

But that slim lead vanished in the early part of the fourth quarter as the Cardinals seized upon a Pleasant Valley fumble on the Bears' 20. Mark Mikels, who tallied three touchdowns for the winners, scooped in a pass from Tom Battisto and he dashed into the end zone untouched for the score which provided Pocono Mountain with the lead.

Another Fumble
With five minutes remaining, the Cards recovered another Bear fumble on the 20. This time Battisto was on the throwing end of the aerial circus, hitting Rick DeHaven on the 12. DeHaven scampered into the end zone untouched for the insurance TD.

Pocono Mountain drew first blood, receiving the opening kickoff and traveling 70 yards in 14 plays for a 6-0 lead. Mikels climaxed the drive as he crashed over from the 5.

But the Bears of Pleasant Valley were undismayed. They took the ensuing kickoff and journeyed 65 yards in 10 plays as Lou Herfurth crashed over from the 5. Herfurth also plunged for the conversion point and a 7-6 lead.

Sparkling Run

A sparkling run by Herfurth midway in the second quarter gave the Bears their second — and final — TD of the day. Herfurth bolted up the middle of the Cardinal line and sprinted 65 yards for a 13-6 advantage. Dale Kibler plunged over for the PAT, providing the 14-6 halftime spread.

Mikels made the second-longest run of the game when he intercepted a Pleasant Valley pass at midfield and raced down the sidelines to bring the Cards within a point of the Bears, 14-13.

Then came the fumbles by the Bears which allowed the Cards to fly away with the ballgame.

2-1 Series Edge

The victory gave Pocono Mountain a 2-1 edge in the youngest of rivalries among Pocono-Slate Belt teams.

Oddly, the margin of triumph was 12 points — the same margin of difference that the first two games resulted in.

Both teams rushed well with the Cards holding a slight edge of 200 yards against 194. Pocono Mountain picked up 11 first downs, to 10 for Pleasant Valley. The Cards had a bigger margin in passing, however, connecting on six of 11 for 61 yards, compared to three of six for 31 yards for the Bears.

Detroit Ties Green Bay On Pietrosante's Plunge

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's Nick Pietrosante scored from inside the one-yard line with 16 seconds remaining to give the Lions a 13-13 tie with Green Bay in a National Football League game Thursday.

The touchdown capped a 78-yard drive started right after the Packers had gone ahead 13-6 on a seven-yard pass from Bart Starr to Ron Kramer with nine minutes remaining.

The deadlock gave the Packers a 9-2-1 record and kept them alive in the Western Division race. They are one game behind the Chicago Bears, who play Minnesota at Chicago Sunday.

A blocked extra point try by Detroit's John Gordy after the Packers' first touchdown proved to be the big play as the Lions snapped a three-game losing streak.

An interference penalty against Green Bay's Jesse Whittonett put the ball on the Packer two and helped set up the tying touchdown.

The Packers marched 53 yards late in the second period and went ahead when Elijah Pitts went up the middle from three yards out. Gordy then blocked Jerry Kramer's extra point attempt.

Walker missed on a 42-yard field goal attempt in the first period, and from the Detroit 48 and the Green Bay 40 in the third quarter.

The game had been tied at 6-6 since late in the second quarter when Detroit's Wayne Walker booted a 37-yard field goal. Walker's 27-yard boot earlier in the quarter had opened the scoring.

Kramer missed a 48-yarder in the second quarter, and was wide from the 10 early in the final period.

Green Bay's fourth-quarter drive was aided by a 15-yard penalty against Detroit for roughing Starr. The penalty, called after a pass completion to Boyd Dowler, brought the ball to the Lions 21. The touchdown came three plays later.

Green Bay 3 0 0 12-15

Oakland Cracks Denver, 26 To 10

DENVER (AP) — Slumbering Oakland snapped alive with two third-quarter touchdowns that cracked Denver's stubborn defense for a 26-10 American Football League victory Thursday.

Cotton Davidson flipped a 39-yard pass to Bo Robinson for Oakland's first touchdown and three minutes later Jon Jelencic grabbed Denver quarterback Don Branca's fumble and rambled 18 yards for another touchdown that erased Denver's 3-2 halftime lead.

The victory tightened Oakland's grip on second place in the Western Division with a 7-4 record and left Denver at the bottom at 2-8-1.

Gene Mingo's 52-yard field goal put Denver in front 3-2 in the second quarter after Oakland counted with a safety in the first.

After Oakland went ahead 26-3 in the fourth quarter Branca completed three passes on an 80-yard touchdown drive capped by a 35-yard screen pass to fullback Billy Joe for Denver's only touchdown.

Fullback Alan Miller's 35-yard run to Denver's two led to Oakland's last touchdown coming on Glenn Shaw's fourth down plunge from the one.

Pen Argyl Wallops Bangor, 40-19; Gains Share Of L-N Championship

PEN ARGYL — "The General" was never better and the Green Knights were never mightier yesterday as Pen Argyl overwhelmed Bangor, 40-19, before an overflow crowd here.

Jim Rodney, the speedy and hard-charging fullback, has been called "The General" by his followers this season and he indeed led the attack which gave the lads of coach Elwood Petchel the co-championship of the Lehigh-Northampton League.

The victory also provided the Knights with an undefeated season (8-0-2) and gave them an edge in the ancient series which dates back to 1922 with 21 wins, 19 losses, and three ties. The series had been tied before yesterday at 20-19-3.

Adding to the laurels of the Green Knights was the fact that the 40 points is the highest ever scored by one team in this rivalry. Twice before the Green Knights had tallied 39 points — the previous high by any team — in 1922 and again in 1927. Both times the Slayers of Bangor were shut out.

Most Points

The game also provided another new mark for this series — the most points ever scored in one game by the two teams. Although Rodney — the sparkplug of the Pen Argyl grid juggernaut — was by far the outstanding player in the game, Petchel said amidst congratulations following the contest: "This was a team effort all the way."

Not taking anything away from any of the other players, Rodney was superb by carrying the ball 23 times, picking up 201 yards for an average of 8.8 yards per carry.

You simply cannot ask any more of a player than a performance of that sort.

Pen Argyl scored the first three times it got its hands on leather and almost immediately erased any doubts about the eventual outcome of the game from the very start. The Knights were The Master from the very start.

Glenn Huffsmith and LeRoy Amy combined with Rodney at the start when the Knights first gained possession to move the ball for four consecutive downs from their own 33 to the Bangor 14.

First Score

But it was Rodney who picked up all first downs for the Knights on carries of 3, 29 and 10 yards. He finally carried across for the first score of the game on a run around left end from six yards out then ran for the extra point.

Huffsmith recovered a Bangor fumble on the Pen Argyl 35 and it took but two plays from scrimmage for the Knights to strike again. This time, it was Rodney again who went on a 64-yard journey into paydirt for a 13-0 lead.

Bangor valiantly battled back to launch a scoring march of its own, traveling 64 yards in 11 plays. Bill Yeager climaxed the drive, plunging over from the 1 to narrow the gap to 13-6 as the PAT failed.

But the Knights came right back to launch their third score of the day as the game quickly took on the appearance of a toe-to-toe slugfest between a pair of heavyweights in the ring.

TD Pass

This time the Knights covered 63 yards in eight plays with Bruce Hewett connecting on a pass to George Woolley for 29 yards and the TD. Amy slammed across through the line for the conversion point and a 20-6 lead.

That's the way it stood until halftime, but after the intermission the Knights started again. Rodney tallied his third touchdown of the day, slanting off tackle for five yards and Huffsmith plunged for the extra point for a 27-6 bulge, putting the game out of reach.

Pen Argyl tallied again early in the fourth period as Amy cracked the line from the 1 to cap a 67-yard drive, upping the margin to 33-6.

Only moments later, the Knights had another TD. Bangor took the following kickoff and on the first play Terry Young intercepted a pass and returned 25 yards for the shocker. Hewett ran for the PAT and a 40-6 margin.

With substitutes streaming into the game from both sides, Bangor rebounded with a pair of rallies of their own in the final session as Barry Holland hauled in a short pass from Jimmy Dietz for one, and Sam Brown taking another Dietz aerial for the final score of the day.

Pocono Mountain Trims Pleasant Valley, 26 To 14

BRODHEADSVILLE — The Old Oakum Bucket remained in possession of Pocono Mountain High School yesterday as the Cardinals of coach Wayne Boyd staged a come-from-behind 26-14 victory over the Pleasant Valley Bears.

A crowd of 1,000 watched Pleasant Valley fumble the game away in the latter stages of the contest as the Cards took advantage of the opportunities to tally three touchdowns in the second half while holding the Bears scoreless.

Pleasant Valley had taken a 14-6 halftime lead and still led by 14-13 entering the final session.

But that slim lead vanished in the early part of the fourth quarter as the Cardinals seized upon a Pleasant Valley fumble on the Bears' 20, Mark Mikels, who tallied three touchdowns for the winners, scooped in a pass from Tom Battisto and he dashed into the end zone untouched for the score which provided Pocono Mountain with the lead.

Another Fumble

With five minutes remaining, the Cards recovered another Bear fumble on the 20. This time Battisto was on the throwing end of the aerial circus, hitting Rick DeHaven on the 12. DeHaven scampered into the end zone untouched for the insurance TD.

Pocono Mountain drew first blood, receiving the opening kickoff and traveling 70 yards in 14 plays for a 6-0 lead. Mikels climaxed the drive as he crashed over from the 5.

But the Bears of Pleasant Valley were undismayed. They took the ensuing kickoff and journeyed 65 yards in 10 plays as Lou Herfurth crashed over from the 5. Herfurth also plunged for the conversion point and a 7-6 lead.

Sparkling Run

A sparkling run by Herfurth midway in the second quarter gave the Bears their second — and final — TD of the day. Herfurth bolted up the middle of the Cardinal line and sprinted 65 yards for a 13-6 advantage. Dale Kibler plunged over for the PAT, providing the 14-6 halftime spread.

Mikels made the second-longest run of the game when he intercepted a Pleasant Valley pass at midfield and raced down the sidelines to bring the Cards within a point of the Bears, 14-13.

Then came the fumbles by the Bears which allowed the Cards to fly away with the ball game.

2-1 Series Edge

The victory gave Pocono Mountain a 2-1 edge in the youngest of rivalries among Pocono-Slate Belt teams.

Oddly, the margin of triumph was 12 points — the same margin of difference that the first two games resulted in.

Both teams rushed well with the Cards holding a slight edge of 200 yards against 194. Pocono Mountain picked up 11 first downs, to 10 for Pleasant Valley. The Cards had a bigger margin in passing, however, connecting on six of 11 for 61 yards, compared to three of six for 31 yards for the Bears.

Detroit Ties Green Bay On Pietrosante's Plunge

DETROIT (AP) Detroit's Nick Pietrosante scored from inside the one-yard line with 16 seconds remaining to give the Lions a 13-13 tie with Green Bay in a National Football League game Thursday.

The touchdown capped a 78-yard drive started right after the Packers had gone ahead 13-6 on a seven-yard pass from Bart Starr to Ron Kramer with nine minutes remaining.

The deadlock gave the Packers a 9-2-1 record and kept them alive in the Western Division race. They are one game behind the Chicago Bears, who play Minnesota at Chicago Sunday.

A blocked extra point try by Detroit's John Gordy after the Packers' first touchdown proved to be the big play as the Lions snapped a three-game losing streak.

the tying touchdown.

The Packers marched 65 yards late in the second period and went ahead when Elijah Pitts went up the middle from three yards out. Gordy then blocked Jerry Kramer's extra point attempt.

Walker missed on a 42-yard field goal attempt in the first period, and from the Detroit 48 and the Green Bay 40 in the third quarter.

The game had been tied at 6-6 since late in the second quarter when Detroit's Wayne Walker booted a 37-yard field goal. Walker's 27-yard boot earlier in the quarter had opened the scoring.

Kramer missed a 48-yarder in the second quarter, and was wide from the 10 early in the final period.

Green Bay's fourth-quarter drive was aided by a 15-yard penalty against Detroit for roughing Starr. The penalty, called after a pass completion to Boyd Dowler, brought the ball to the Lions 21. The touchdown came three plays later.

Green Bay 0 6 0 7-13
Detroit 0 6 0 7-13

Thomas Favored Over Persol

NEW YORK (AP) — Light heavyweight contender Allen Thomas of Chicago still held as a 4-1 favorite Thursday to spoil unbeaten John Persol's big time debut in the television 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

The bout originally was scheduled for last Friday but was postponed when the Garden shut down following the assassination of President Kennedy.

Persol, a 22-year-old Brooklyn shipping clerk, figures to benefit from the delay. He was called in on four days notice to sub for Mauro Mina when it was discovered the Peruvian had undergone a recent operation for a detached retina of the left eye.

Persol turned pro only last Jan. 5. The one-time National Golden Gloves champion has won all nine of his starts, including three by knockouts.

Thomas appears to have too much skill and experience for Persol. The 22-year-old Midwesterner has a 19-2-1 record, including 11 knockouts.

Texas Clinches National Crown

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Texas virtually clinched the national collegiate football championship Thursday with a thrilling come-from-behind 15-13 victory over Texas A&M.

Tommy Wade's passing in the closing minutes led the winning touchdown drive as the Longhorns closed out their first all-winning season since 1920 with their 10th triumph.

Texas already had clinched the host spot in the Cotton Bowl and its narrow victory over the Aggies gave the Longhorns the Southwest Conference title.

Deciding Score

The Aggies led the top-ranked Longhorns 13-3 going into the fourth period on two touchdown passes by Jim Keller and fought to the last ditch. The sterling Aggie defense held Texas in check with pass interceptions, fumble recoveries and some great goal line stands.

But in the last quarter, Texas showed the mark of a champion.

A fumble recovery after an intercepted pass kept the winning drive going and some key sharpshooting by Wade plus vital running gains set up Carlisle's drive from the one.

It was the conference's first undefeated and untied season in 25 years.

Oakland Cracks Denver, 26 To 10

DENVER (AP) — Slumbering Oakland snapped alive with two third-quarter touchdowns that cracked Denver's stubborn defense for a 26-10 American Football League victory Thursday.

Cotton Davidson flipped a 39-yard pass to Bo Roberson for Oakland's first touchdown and three minutes later Jon Jelacic grabbed Denver quarterback Don Breaux' fumble and rambled 18 yards for another touchdown that erased Denver's 3-2 halftime lead.

The victory tightened Oakland's grip on second place in the Western Division with a 7-4 record and left Denver at the bottom at 2-8-1.

Gene Mingo's 52-yard field goal put Denver in front 3-2 in the second quarter after Oakland counted with a safety in the first.

After Oakland went ahead 26-3 in the fourth quarter Breaux completed three passes on an 80-yard touchdown drive capped by a 35-yard screen pass to fullback Billy Joe for Denver's only touchdown.

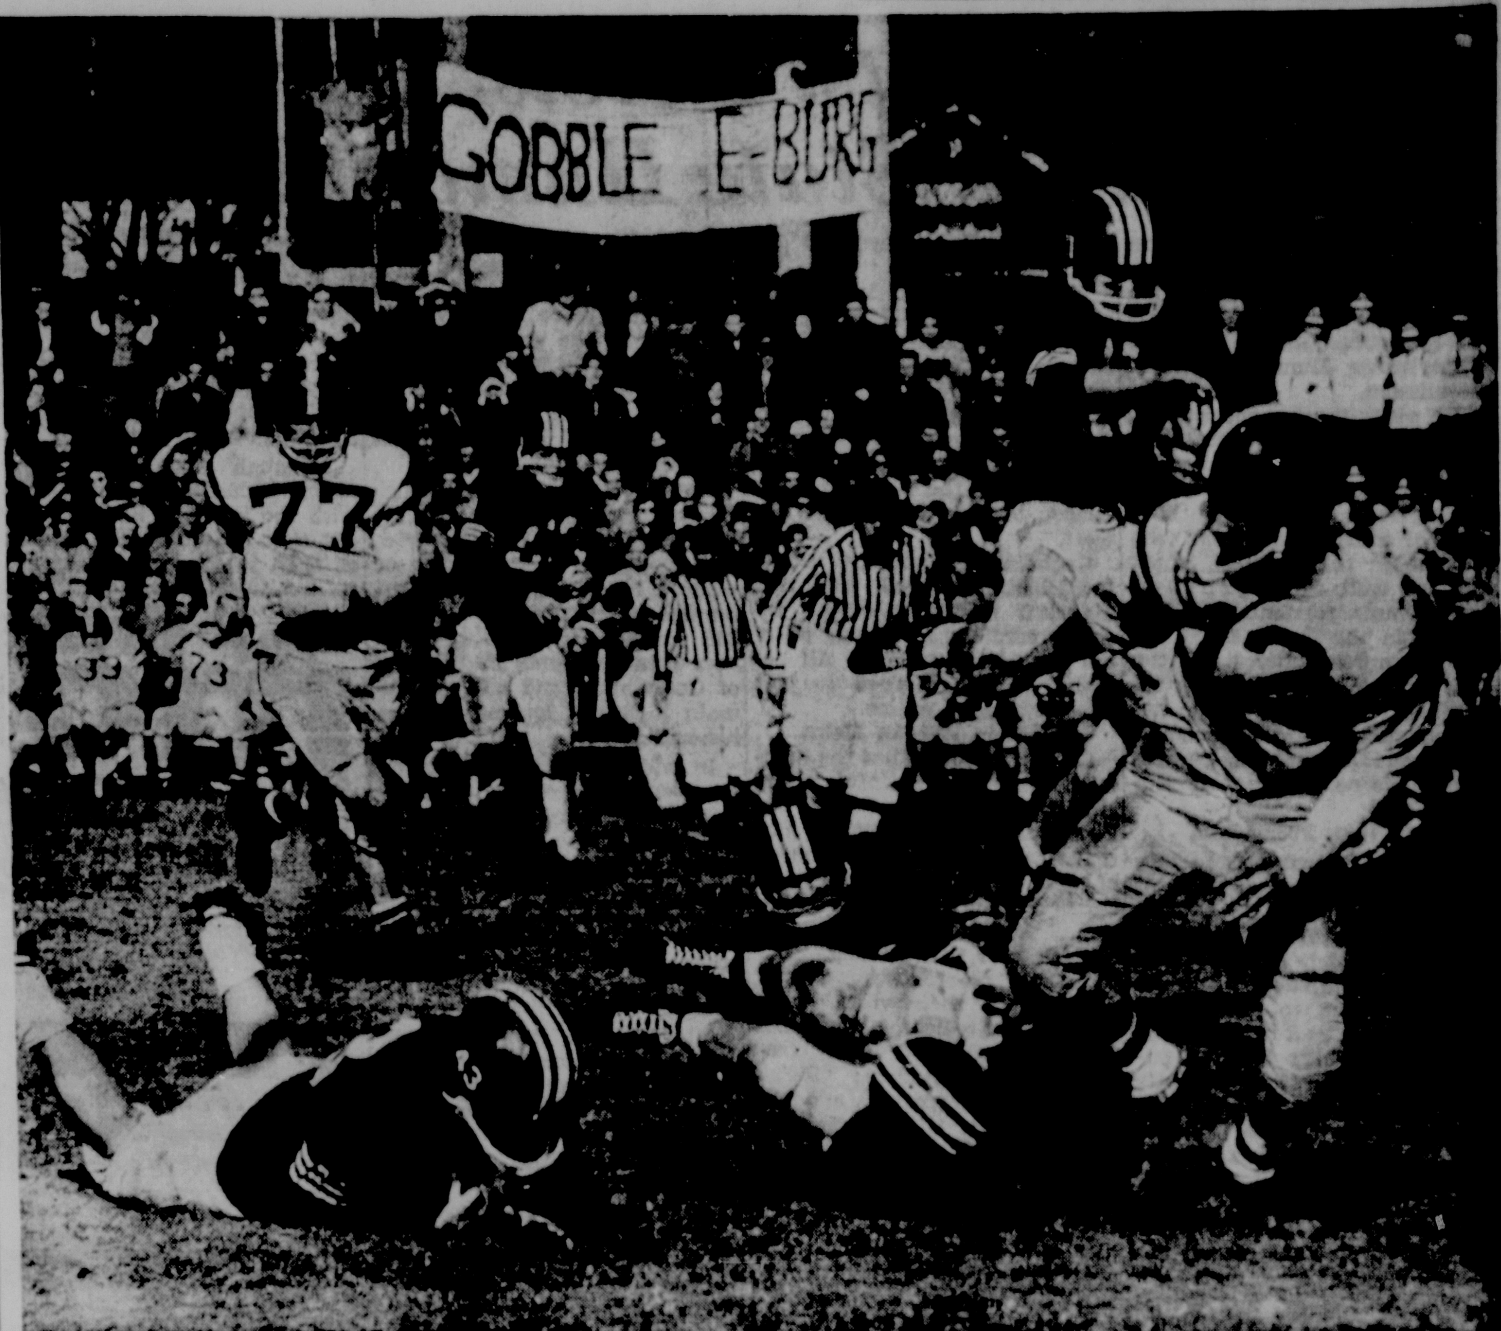

Fullback Alan Miller's 35-yard run to Denver's two led to Oakland's last touchdown coming on Glenn Shaw's fourth down plunge from the one.

Pocono Resorts, Hotels, Bars, Restaurants Educated By State Human Relations Group

HARRISBURG — More than 400 resorts and other tourist accommodations in the Pocono Mountain area were visited this fall by representatives of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission.

The visits were made as part of a commission educational program designed to prevent racial or religious discrimination against any of the thousands of tourists each year who vacation in the popular resort area, as well as to protect Pennsylvania residents who live or visit in the Poconos.

Field representatives of the state agency paid calls on a total of 411 places of public accommodation in the Pocono area, including resorts, restaurants, taverns, hotels and motels.

Talk With Proprietors

Their assignment was to talk with the proprietor of each of these establishments, to explain the provisions of the Pennsylvania law which forbids discrimination in places open to the public, and to direct the proprietor to post a Commission notice which informs patrons that state law protects their right to equal service.

Included among the places visited were 157 resorts, 29 restaurants, 36 combination restaurant-taverns, 27 taverns, 81 hotels, 69 motels and 12 recreation and amusement places, including bowling alleys and golf courses.

The area covered in the commission's Pocono Mountain project included parts of six counties — Carbon, Lackawanna, Monroe, Northampton, Pike and Wayne. It is bounded by Routes 550 and 6 on the north, by Route 299 on the south and east, and by the Northeast Extension of the Turnpike on the west.

Commission Executive Director Elliott M. Shirk said that his staff members were received cordially by nearly all of the proprietors visited. All of them, he said, agreed to post the commission notice.

Vacation Bureau Helps

Shirk also noted that the Commission received helpful assistance with the project from the Pocono Mountain Vacation Bureau, a division of the Chamber of Commerce, and from the Lake Wallenpaupack Association.

Shirk said that among the comments recorded by staff members on their visits were these: "We welcome congenial people regardless of race" (resort lodge manager); "We're happy to cooperate" (motel owner); "This is a good idea" (restaurant owner); and "We've had many Negro couples and no problems" (owner of honeymoon cottages).

In only a few places did

Commission representatives receive a less-than-pleasant reception: a secretary at an amusement place was obviously irritated by the visit, the owner of a motel said he'd put up the poster but would check with his attorney, and a tavern owner said he serves Negroes but is afraid of trouble.

Earlier in the year, the commission carried out a similar project in the Gettysburg area, in preparation for the Civil War Centennial observance. A total of 248 visits were made to business establishments in the city of Gettysburg, and along the main highways leading to the historic shrine.

In addition to these visits by representatives of the commission's Harrisburg Regional Office, staff members from PHRC offices in both Philadelphia and Pittsburgh have been making visits to restaurants, taverns, hotels and motels in those areas, to the extent that they could be spared from case investigations and other duties.

Altogether, a total of more than 1,500 places of public accommodation were visited by commission representatives during the past year, exclusive of contacts made in connection with complaint investigations.

Agree to Post Notices
In only 7 of these visits did the proprietor initially refuse to post the required notice. When re-visited, the proprietors of 5 of these places agreed to post the notices. Enforcement procedures were begun against the remaining 2 proprietors who still declined to comply with the Commission regulation.

Although the commission seeks voluntary compliance with the law, Mr. Shirk pointed out that discrimination in places open to the public may subject offenders to public hearings, cease and desist orders, and fines of from $100 to $500, imprisonment up to 30 days, or both.

An illustrated pamphlet, "Equal Service," describing the state's public accommodations law, is available from Commission offices in the Labor and Industry Building, Harrisburg, and in the State Office Buildings in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

Employment Office Closed Today; Claims Days Reset

STROUDSBURG — The Stroudsburg Office of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service was closed yesterday, will remain closed today.

John P. Dougherty, manager said that due to the holiday closing of the office, changes in the reporting schedules of persons filing for unemployment compensation are necessary in order to insure prompt processing of claims.

Persons already in an active claim status who reported to the local office last week were given instructions as to the dates during the extended Thanksgiving holiday period on which they are to file their claims and should report according to those instructions. All other persons desiring to file a claim are to report during the week beginning Monday, Dec. 2, 1963. Those wishing to file a new claim are to report on Monday, Dec. 2 between 8:45 a.m. to 3:15 p.m. Those wishing to reopen a claim are to report to the office during the week on their regular assigned day and time.

However, persons who would normally report on Thursday, Nov. 28 or Friday, Nov. 29, to reopen claims, are to report on Monday, Dec. 2 at their regular assigned time.

Driver Hurt As Car Flips

SHAWNEE - ON-DELAWARE — Lewis G. Richardson, 35, Shawnee-on-Deleware, was released after treatment for shoulder injuries at Monroe County General Hospital as the result of a one-car accident at 12:05 a.m. Wednesday near the entrance to Shawnee Inn.

State Police said Richardson's small foreign car overturned as it went out of control on a curve as it traveled east on Shawnee Rd. Damage was estimated at $1,000.

PM Committee To Reorganize

SWIFTWATER — The Pocono Mountain Joint School Committee will meet Thursday at 1 p.m. in the High School at Swiftwater for its annual reorganizational meeting.

The Paradise Twp. School Board will meet Monday at 8 p.m. in the Paradise Twp. Community Building to reorganize.

Drought May Have Injured Trees

By George Abraham
OUR DYING TREES: I despise gloom peddlers but wish to point out that our recent drought may have a serious effect on our shade trees next year.

Evidence of drought injury has shown up in many mature shade trees, elm, maples, ash and honey locust, to name a few. Drought-weakened trees are a favored habitat of bark beetles, wood borers and other pests.

Often these insects kill trees that would otherwise recover. Watering, pruning, and spraying are measures that will help to minimize drought injury.

Salt has been blamed for our dying maples, but is salt the real culprit? A statistical analysis of the effect of 20 factors on 530 shade and roadside maple trees show that maple decline is largely a roadside problem, but this does not necessarily mean that salt is the killer.

Trees below the road level or receiving drainage from the road are in poorer condition than those with good drainage. A heavy subsoil seems to favor maple decline.

The soluble salts content of the top 3 inches of soil samples show no abnormally high amounts, which is evidence that salt alone is not the killer. If salt were the real killer, how is it explained that maples are also dying in the country where no salt is being used?

There are at least 20 factors responsible for the decline of our maple trees. Diseases such as verticillium wilt and bleeding canker creep in when a tree is drought-weakened. Anything you can do to build up a tree's vigor, such as water, prune and feed will help your tree resist death.

Street trees are valuable and we should do everything we can to save them. In one city alone, Beverly Hills, street trees are valued at $20,000,000. This is equal to all their other facilities (water works, parks, library, fire department) combined.

BUCKWHEAT FLIES—Mild fall weather has brought out both buckwheat flies and the common house fly to bug us. Buckwheat flies (also called "cluster flies") are easier to combat than the regular house fly since they gang up in the attic.

The vacuum sweeper does a fine job banishing them in large numbers. Aerosol sprays are effective. They knock down the pests long enough for you to remove them with a sweeper.

There isn't much you can do except be persistent. The flies hide inside in cold weather, resting next to sheathing and clapboards.

POTTED CHRYSANTHEMUMS—Once these have bloomed you can cut the tops back to about 5 inches and store the mum in the cellar, in a cold frame, or outdoors next to the house foundation.

Don't let them dry out completely as they'll die.

WINTER INJURY—One of the worst types of winter injury to ornamentals is girdling of the bark by mice, rats, rabbits or other rodents. Rabbits can be caught with by wrapping stems with aluminum foil, mesh or fence material. Or you can spray with various commercial repellents.

A good home-made one consists of dissolving 7 lbs. of rosin in 1 gallon of denatured alcohol and painting tree trunks and canes with the material. This also tends to discourage deer from rubbing their antlers or from eating the wood.

Mice can be discouraged by clearing away from the base of the tree all sod, and dumping stoker ashes around the tree. Multiple-stemmed shrubs are best protected by a fence of hardware cloth, high enough to allow for snow which might stretch a rabbit's reach.

Care should be taken also to install the mechanical barrier a couple inches below the ground line to keep mice from burrowing.

Next week: How to prevent snow or ice damage.

MING TREES—I'm not a Ming tree specialist, but I do receive many letters asking for information on this Japanese art. If you're interested in knowing how to make a Ming tree, send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope for my helpful leaflet, MING TREES.

GROUND COVERS—Landscapers are using ground covers more today than before. A ground cover is just what the Majority Leader Has Resigned

HARRISBURG (AP) — U.S. Rep.-elect Albert W. Johnson has resigned as majority leader of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

Johnson, a McKean County Republican, was elected to an interim term in Congress filling the seat left vacant by the death of Leon H. Gavin.

Johnson expects to take his seat Wednesday, prior to a joint address to both houses of Congress by President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Johnson's resignation cuts the Republican majority to 105 members—one vote short of the 106 necessary for passage of legislation.

The General Assembly currently is considering legislative reapportionment of the House and Senate.

Three new Republican members are to be sworn in Dec. 4 when the House reconvenes, raising the GOP majority to 108.

The House Republican delegation is expected to select Johnson's successor prior to reconvening.

name implies: Something to cover the ground where grass won't grow. Quite often lawn grass will not grow in heavy shade, in a rocky soil, on steep slopes, or in other difficult places, but the right ground cover will.

In a series, I plan to mention 24 of the most popular ground covers the home gardener can use. The first is Goutweed (Aegopodium podagraria).

Goutweed gets its name from the fact that the leaves and roots have been used to fight gout. Goutweed is a vigorous aggressive grower and will tolerate poor soil, sun or shade, and can be a pest if allowed. The flowers are white, but non-spectacular and should be sheared off in May and June.

Goutweed leaves are variegated, creamy yellow and green, and sometimes this variegation will revert to a pure green, just why no one seems to know. Goutweed grows well near a house foundation, where nothing else will grow. In extremely dry weather the leaves develop a slight brownish sear, but it's nothing serious. It will spread fast once it gets started.

BUTTERFLY BUSHES—If you die out each winter, try winter protecting with a mulch of straw or evergreen boughs. Next spring, cut the tops back to live wood and you'll have a fine crop of blossoms. Flowers are produced on new growth.

By the way, you can slip new plants from cuttings, next July or August. Take side shoots and shorten to about four inches and stick them in moist sand in a cold frame.

Ronson Wins Patent Suit Against Lighter Importer

WOODBIDGE, N.J. —The U.S. District Court for the Southern District of California, Central Division, in Los Angeles has sustained the validity of three major Ronson gas lighter patents and ruled that these had been infringed by an American importer and distributor of Japanese-made lighters.

This was announced by Harry L. Tepper, general counsel of the Ronson Corporation. Ronson operates a plant in Delaware Water Gap.

Tepper said that the court also supported Ronson in its claim that the importer-distributor, Maruman of California, Inc., had infringed the Ronson trademark "Multi-fill" covering the corporation's gas fuel injector for fueling Ronson Varafame gas lighters.

In addition, Tepper said, Maruman was found to have engaged in unfair competition in that the "Maruman" lighter so closely resembled the Ronson Varafame "Premier" gas lighter in appearance as to cause confusion in the trade and among consumers over the true origin of the Maruman product.

In addition, Tepper said, Maruman was found to have engaged in unfair competition in that the "Maruman" lighter so closely resembled the Ronson Vavafume "Premier" gas lighter in appearance as to cause confusion in the trade and among consumers over the true origin of the Maruman product.

Solid Growth Rate Noted In Monroe Past 15 Years

Special to The Record

NEW YORK — To what extent has Monroe County's economy moved ahead since the last war? How much better off are local residents than they were 15 years ago?

The rate at which they have advanced, as well as their prospects for the future, are matters of basic importance to the county's residents.

Just as expansion and growth are counted on, year after year, to keep the national economy on an even keel and to provide jobs for the growing labor force, so it is at the local level.

And, to each community, what is happening in its own back yard is of much greater concern than what is happening elsewhere in the country.

Cub Scout Pack No. 84 of the Cherry Valley Methodist Church will meet at the Hamilton elementary school, on Saturday at 8 o'clock.

A program, pertaining to "Sounds" will be presented by the Dens under the direction of Mrs. Dorothy Bittenbender. Cub Scout badges and pins will be awarded.

U.S. Department of Commerce, by Sales Management and by other agencies reveal, for each area of the United States, what progress it has made in the last 15 years.

Earning Capacity Up

In Monroe County, the figures show, a significant rise in earning capacity has taken place since 1947. The average income per family at that time, after taxes, amounted to $4,322 a year.

As of last year, the local average had climbed to $6,031 per family.

Some of that improvement was of no actual value, however, because the cost of living had gone up at the same time. The 1962 dollar would not buy as much as the 1947 one did.

How much of it had to be discounted? In terms of buying power, only three-fifths of the increase was real, the Department of Commerce estimates.

24 Per Cent Rise

In Monroe County, consequently, the real rise in family income over the 15-year period

Are You Cheating Your Children?

YOU ARE IF YOU BUY OUTSIDE PENNSYLVANIA
AND DO NOT PAY THE 5% SALES TAX. ALSO
YOU ARE LIABLE TO A PENALTY OF $2,000.00 OR 3 YEARS IMPRISONMENT OR BOTH!

You have a moral obligation to your children and others in Pennsylvania to pay the 5% Use Tax! This particular tax is earmarked especially for schools and the education of your children. Take this away from them and you could reduce them to less than they deserve, less education than they require to enter college and/or to go out into the world to compete for jobs with others.

When you purchase taxable items in Pennsylvania stores, the tax for education is collected by the store. When you purchase these same items outside of Pennsylvania and have them delivered or bring them into the Commonwealth, you are required by law to declare these purchases and pay the tax of 5% on the purchase price.

We urge you to avoid the legal consequences that can result from nonpayment of the Sales and Use Tax on merchandise purchased outside Pennsylvania and brought into Pennsylvania for USE within the state.

Use the convenient form below to declare your out-of-state purchase for which you have not paid the Sales and Use Tax. FILL IN THE FORM AND MAIL TODAY TO BUREAU OF SALES & USE TAX, COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, 1846 BROOKWOOD STREET, HARRISBURG, PA. Additional forms available on request.

EXPLANATION OF USE TAX LIABILITY
(A) The Use Tax covers all purchases made out-of-state on which you paid no Pennsylvania sales tax but did bring the purchase back into the state for use. The Tax covers all purchases on which you would have paid a five per cent sales tax in Pennsylvania if purchased in and used in this state, and must be remitted within 30 days. Rate of tax is 5% of purchase price on items purchased on or after June 1, 1963.
* The Tax purchases made prior to June 1, 1963 is at the rate of 4%.
(B) Willfully making a false return is a crime with a penalty of $2,000 fine or 3 years imprisonment or both. Failure to file a return is punishable by a fine of $1,000 or 1 year imprisonment or both.
CERTIFICATION: I certify that this return is, to the best of my knowledge, information and belief, a full, true and correct disclosure of Use Tax liability for the above period.

Building New Plants Along Route

Shortway Drawing Industry; Opens Entire New Frontier

By Robert E. Hetherington

HARRISBURG — The Keystone Shortway, appropriately named by its supporters and enthusiastic promoters, is to be 310 miles and will connect with the states of Ohio and New Jersey. It is expected to open an entire new frontier across the northern tier of Pennsylvania.

One of the proponents of the Shortway and a man who had visions of this road's value many years before it was authorized, said the other day:

Senior Utility Director Resigns

ALLENTOWN — Jesse B. Warriner, 507 Delaware Ave., Bethlehem, senior director of Pennsylvania Power & Light Company, announced his resignation at a meeting of the utility's board of directors this week. The resignation is effective Dec. 31, 1963, following more than 35 years of service.

Chas. E. Oakes, board chairman and chief executive officer, said he greatly regrets the termination of this long association. Oakes said Warriner's 35 years of directorship may well be a record in the utility industry.

Warriner's span of association with the company, Mr. Oakes said, began even before the start of his directorship in 1928 — for, as a prominent coal mining executive and fuel supplier, he already had active ties with the utility business dating back to the beginning of our company.

"He gave counsel and was most helpful to the company, particularly during the formative years when more than 100 small predecessor electric light and power companies were consolidated, to make PP&L today the second largest electric company in Pennsylvania in number of customers, size of service area, number of shareholders and value of utility plant," said Oakes.

Warriner, in announcing his resignation, said that he has reached the time of life when he wanted to divest himself of the pressures of corporation activity and devote an increasing amount of his time to his personal interests.

"Pennsylvania's industrial and economic future eventually will be based along the Keystone Shortway."

Already, and even before 15 per cent of the overall mileage is in actual use, businessmen have been attracted to the northern counties to test the industrial climate. Many of them today are building new plants along the Shortway; others are planning industrial parks along the route. Additionally, tourists are finding it easier to consider Pennsylvania's vacationland because of its improving road network.

Carved out of virgin countryside, mountains of earth are being moved from some of Pennsylvania's most picturesque land. Heavy construction equipment is moving at a rapid pace and concrete is being poured at a rate of one mile a day. But even with all of this speed Pennsylvania is retaining its beautiful landscape. Curves are gentle, medial strips are wide, in some areas nearly one-half mile apart, interchanges have dramatic appearance and in general the aesthetics have been retained by designers and engineers.

54 Interchanges
On the Keystone Shortway there will be 54 interchanges for fast access to connecting routes. The interchanges will be spaced not more than seven miles apart.

In addition to the natural advancements in engineering, sizeable roadside rests are being constructed to provide motorists with picnicking facilities. These areas have been planned within every 25 miles and will offer travelers a look at Pennsylvania's beauty. There will be 24 rests on the Shortway.

The Keystone Shortway is just one phase of the State's share of what is more commonly referred to as the Interstate Highway System. These are high-speed multi-lane expressways with limited access (entrance can be gained only at interchanges) and will total 1,575 miles in Pennsylvania, including the 360 miles of east-west turnpike.

Pennsylvania's allocated mileage is exceeded only by total mileage assigned to the States of Texas, California and Illinois by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads, contributors of 90 per cent of the construction costs. When the Interstate System is completed, it is expected to be finished by 1972, there will be more than 41,000 miles of freeways stretched across the nation.

Save 2 Cents A Mile

Because of the superior safety and traffic carrying capacity of modern divided highways as compared to ordinary streets and highways, it has been estimated that the Interstate System will save motorists more than two cents a mile in urban sections, as a result of lower accident, fuel and maintenance costs, and about a cent per mile in rural areas. The accident reduction also means an annual saving of more than 5,000 lives when the entire system is completed.

Construction of the Shortway is moving at a hurried pace. Since October, construction bids for 25 additional miles have been received. Work will begin shortly on all of these sections. This mileage is in Mercer, Venango, Clearfield, Butler, Luzerne and Clarion counties.

By January 1964, construction bids for an additional six miles from Emericville east will be received and construction will start sometime in the spring. An additional 14 miles tying in with the section also will be started soon after.

Building a highway is a long and thoughtfully planned effort. It isn't accomplished overnight. It takes study of area traffic flow and arterial connections, study of the soil, study of the topography and the geographic conditions; and more study. It requires preliminary design, final design, public hearings, required by law, land condemnation and finally construction. When $1 million per mile is being expended on a highway, abrupt decisions cannot be made.

Vacationland Magnet
The 310 miles of Keystone Shortway will be a marvel of design. It will lend its beauty to attracting additional vacationers, from outside of Pennsylvania as well as those Pennsylvanians who have never ventured into the northern area of the Keystone State.

As one industrialist said about the Shortway: "Pennsylvania has everything working for her with this grand, new highway spanning its northern tier to improve its economic climate."

CAPT. MELVIN J. WILHELM (left), 972nd Sig. Bn., Tobyhanna Army Depot, receives the Army's Certificate of Achievement from Depot Commander Col. M. J. Reichel. Wilhelm for "his highly superior and professional public presentations made to area civic organizations, schools and other groups."

Portland X-Ray Tests Set Dec. 3

PORTLAND — The Northampton County Tuberculosis and Health Society announced that the Christmas Seal X-ray cruiser will be stationed at the Fire House in Portland on Tuesday, Dec. 3. Free X-rays will be given from 2:00 to 5:00 and from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

Because of a conflict in activities scheduled for that day, there will be no diabetes testing program given at this time. The program is being arranged in cooperation with Wayne Hughes of Portland.

Transfer Pupils

CHESTER, Pa. (AP) — The transfer of 173 pupils from the predominantly Negro Franklin Elementary School has been made. The transfers were part of an agreement to alleviate overcrowding at the school. AFL-CIO Plans Court Action

HARRISBURG (AP) — The powerful Pennsylvania AFL-CIO has threatened possible Court action if the Senate and House pass their present reapportionment plans. The labor group, in letters to all members of the General Assembly, said the two plans fail to remedy existing inequities in the present setup. "Neither measure serves the purpose of mandatory reapportionment of legislative districts as is required by provisions of our state and federal constitutions," the letter stated. "If these inequitable proposals are enacted, this organization may indeed find it necessary to join with other similarly interested groups in seeking an immediate remedy and relief in the appropriate court of competent jurisdiction." The letters were signed by president Harry Boyer and executive vice president Michael Johnson.
